ERRING NATIONS CITED AS CAUSE OF TRADE ILLS

United States Chamber Session Told Business Is Politics' Victim.

BARNES EXONERATES COMMERCE LEADERS

John Joy Edson, Washington, Is Elected Vice President for Life.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 1 (A.P.).—Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce, addressing the chamber's annual convention tonight, charged "political violation of business judgment" was the primary cause of world business depression.

"It was not lack of business leadership," he said, "but political violation of business judgment that wrecked the world by the simultaneous collapse of Government injection into coffee and sugar and silk and rubber and nitrates and wheat and cotton.

"It was not judgment, but political violation which lowered the buying power of great oriental countries, by the dumping of India's reserves of silver as a commodity upon a world that for 2,000 years had looked upon it as a somewhat stable standard of value.

Russia's Plight Explained.

"It was not business judgment, but political violation that today segregates 150,000,000 people behind the frontiers of Russian autocracy, suppressing the natural aspirations and ambitious energy of a vast population, confiscating the products of their labor without price, to pour them upon the markets of the world in destructive competition with free labor at higher standards.

"It was not business judgment, but political violation of its principles that disorganized the trade of four hundred millions in China by petty wars of rival chieftains, levying tribute to the suppression of trade, discouraging production, destroying buying power.

"It was not business judgment, but political violation which in Australia, under radical leadership, mortgaged the earning power of anticipated years ahead, laid burdens of social services, destroying trade and industry, checked the support of extended foreign credits needed over a time of readjustment, by a lack of principle that bordered on repudiation.

Rebellions Are Cited.

"It was not business judgment, but political violations that by unwise tax burdens, unbalanced budgets, unsound finance, reckless injection of government into commodity trade in many countries of the world gradually created a distress expressing itself through rebellion and revolution, themselves creating new hazards to further discourage agencies of employment and earning power supplied by capital venturing only when secure behind stable governments.

"Business judgment can not proclaim any single panacea as the immediate remedy of depression on so complex a scale. A myriad of individual judgments, applied each in their own field of endeavor, must supply the healing influences by which health is regained.

"Business judgment, invested with the responsibility of the conduct of industry, realizes that its chief duty rests in the maintenance of efforts to reabsorb the 5,000,000 out of work. Throughout the vast industrial structure of America scores of inspiring efforts to achieve both these ends are under way. The exchange of tried experience, of tested plans, show that in the conduct of industry there is keen realization that sound methods may be tried and prove that at least the next inevitable ebb in the great tide of industry will be cushioned and softened by the experience of this.

America's Aid to Count.

"America's fundamental faith in voluntary cooperative effort expresses itself in the complex world today by the gradual development of great trade and community associations. Through them joint council and common effort hold the promise of measurably leveling the peaks and depressions of industry."

He ridiculed fears of Russia's five-year plan, stating that even when

Judge Leaves Game; Appendix Is Removed

Nats' Captain, Stricken at Boston, Progresses After Operation.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent).

Boston, Mass., May 1.—Joe Judge, first baseman and captain of the Washington baseball team, underwent an operation for acute appendicitis at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital at 10 o'clock tonight and was reported doing well and resting easily following the ordeal. Dr. Francis Newton, one of Boston's leading surgeons, performed the operation, following a series of blood tests which showed conclusively that it would not be safe to postpone it.

The first hint that Judge was ill today was received by his mates on the team this afternoon in the sixth inning, when it was necessary for him to withdraw from the game against the Red Sox.

Despite the fact that the operation was decided upon following an attack, which, naturally, caused inflammation, Dr. Newton declared that conditions were quite favorable and he anticipated no complications. Judge will remain in Boston until able to travel in safety to his home in Washington, where he will recuperate. He probably will be lost to the team for a month.

No sooner had Secretary E. B. Eynon, jr., heard of Judge's withdrawal from the Washington lineup then he made the telegraph wires hot to President Clark Griffith and

LISBON IS MENACED BY NEW REVOLUTION

Portuguese Capital Tense as Populace Awaits Revolt Launched by Bomb.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

Lisbon, Portugal, May 1 (A.P.).—Lisbon tonight was a city of fear. A movement against the dictatorship of President Oscar Carmona obviously was under way, but the populace knew nothing of its scope and could only await developments anxiously.

Following upon the explosion of a bomb in connection with May Day demonstrations, members of the cabinet fled to the shelter of the barracks of the Third Artillery Regiment, which has become almost a traditional haven for officials when trouble is brewing.

Heavily armed troops maintained vigil at all strategic points and armored cars patrolled the streets in unceasing watch for a repetition of today's outbreaks. The streets were otherwise deserted and business houses were barred and shuttered.

Declaration of martial law was anticipated momentarily in view of the government's feeling that the uprising was distinctly different from those of previous years and bore a revolutionary complexion.

The explosion occurred in the midst of a great crowd of demonstrators, including many middle class citizens who gathered in Rocio Square and raised shouts of "Down with the dictatorship!" The fragments of the bomb flew in all directions, but caused no casualties, the only victim being a horse of one of the Republican guards. Troops of cavalry rode through the demonstrators and eventually succeeded in clearing the square.

In preoccupation over their own troubles, the public has almost forgotten the revolt against the government in the Madeira Islands. The rebels were believed to be still occupying Funchal against the advancing forces of the naval expedition.

Reports of government origin said that the loyal troops were consolidating their positions over a 30-square-mile area, preparatory to marching on Funchal. Their area of operations extends from Alheta, 20 miles northwest of the city, to Fanical, 12 miles northeast.

The minister of marine, commanding the Portuguese armada, wireless-ed that another detachment of infantry had effected a landing and was supporting other columns of troops advancing over difficult terrain. The government morale was excellent, he said, and supplies and ammunition had been rushed to the base of operations.

The Lisbon vessels were reported to have seized two transports laden with guns and ammunition, which had been commandeered by the insur-

HOOVER APPROVES PAY RAISE DENIAL

Brookhart Charges President Ignores Direction of Congress.

President Hoover yesterday gave his approval to the decision of his Cabinet to deny to Government employes pay increases, except where such increases were unquestionably made mandatory by law.

This policy of the Government, it was said at the White House, is not at all in conflict with the President's efforts to maintain existing wage levels and find jobs for as many persons as possible.

Many Government employes are being kept on the pay roll, although work in their particular branches has slackened to such an extent that dismissal of some of them would be justified, it was said at the White House.

Secretary of Labor Doak and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had lunch with the President at the White House yesterday and gave their tacit approval to the new policy inaugurated by President Hoover as a means of cutting down governmental expense.

Gertrude M. McNally, secretary-treasurer of the National Federation of Federal Employes, however, was not so agreeable to the new policy. Miss McNally said the attitude of the employes probably could best be represented as "irked but impotent." Relief must wait on Congress, Miss McNally said.

That something would be done about it immediately Congress convenes was promised by Senator Brookhart (Republican), of Iowa.

Senator Brookhart declared that the administration action was a direct contradiction of the expressed desire of Congress. He pushed aside the approval of the move given by Representative Will R. Wood (Republican), Indiana, chairman of the House appropriations committee, declaring that both the House and Senate had repudiated the Wood amendment to the last appropriations bills.

Despite this disapproval, Senator Brookhart said, the administration was putting the Wood amendment in practice after Congress had specifically declared its opposition to its prineiple and purpose.

That the administration may hear considerably more from its decision was indicated by Senator Brookhart's declaration that he had no doubt that the Senate would immediately pass a resolution looking to an investigation of the matter. Nothing would result from an investigation, it is thought, but it would certainly not be pleasant campaign material for the administration.

Senator Brookhart proposes a resolution declaring that the intent

POLLARD TURNS FIRST EARTH ON LEE BOULEVARD

Highway to Stretch From Blue Ridge to Potomac Is Begun.

SOUTHERN GENERAL'S DESCENDANTS WATCH

Beauties of Shenandoah Park Area Are Described; Convict Labor Hit.

The first spade of dirt in the construction of the Lee Memorial boulevard was turned yesterday afternoon at Fort Buffalo, Va., by Gov. John Garland Pollard, with the remark, "This much of the boulevard, at least, will not be done by convict labor."

With impressive ceremonies, in which prominent road men and descendants of Gen. Robert E. Lee took part, the construction of the 200-foot boulevard became an actual undertaking. When finished, the highway will run from Arlington Memorial Bridge to Shenandoah National Park, on the crest of the Blue Ridge Mountains.

In his address to the more than 3,000 persons who had assembled by the side of the highway Gov. Pollard declared, "This road will serve as a permanent memorial to Robert E. Lee, idol not only of the South, but of the whole world, and provide a fitting entrance to the National Capital."

Lee's Descendants Introduced.

The governor served as master of ceremonies. During the course of the program he introduced Dr. George Bolling Lee, of New York, grandson of Gen. Lee; Mrs. Hunter DeButts and Mrs. Hanson Ely, jr., granddaughters of the Civil War leader, and Mrs. Robert E. Lee, jr., widow of another grandson of the general. None of them made an address.

The son of another of the celebrated Civil War fighters was present to do honor to the memory of the general, Col. Robert Lee Longstreet, and he was vigorously applauded when introduced by the governor.

The principal address was made by W. E. Carson, of the State Conservation and Development Commission, who described the Shenandoah Park as one of the greatest projects Virginia has ever undertaken. He described the beauties of the territory and the variety of scenery afforded visitors who will come from all parts of the country for a trip through the eight counties partly in the area.

Boy Scouts Lend Aid.

Music was furnished by the Army Band. The whole program was broadcast by Station WJSV. Boy Scouts from Troop 123, at Falls Church; Troop 182, at Fairfax, and Troop 177, from Glencarlyn, assisted in directing the visitors, and as a special guard of honor for Gov. Pollard two companies of high school cadets from Washington and Lee High School, at Warrenton, with one company of the girls' auxiliary corps from the same school, were brought to the ceremony in special coaches.

The Washington and Lee High School Band, resplendent in its white, blue and gold uniforms, was also there to aid the Army Band in providing music. Its presence brought an expression of approval from the governor.

The assembly was called to order by Gov. Pollard, who used a

WINCHESTER GREETS QUEEN OF FESTIVAL

English Girl Named Ruler at Apple Ceremony Cheered by Crowds.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., May 1.—Through decorated streets crowded with cheering throngs, and carrying the American colors and those of her own country, Miss Patricia D. Morton, Winchester, England, reached the Virginia city named for her home town early tonight from Washington to reign as Queen Shenandoah VIII over the annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival, May 5 and 6.

Escorted by Virginia State police over the Lee-Jackson Memorial Highway from the Capital, she was enthusiastically acclaimed by crowds surging around the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Hunter S. McGuire, who will be her official hosts. Police were required to hold back the crowds eager for a glimpse of the central figure of the blossom celebration and the first girl of foreign residence to be chosen for the honor.

Following luncheon at the McGuire home, Miss Morton and her mother, Mrs. Evelyn Morton Stroud, were guests at a dinner tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Arthur, the first of a series of brilliant functions arranged in Miss Morton's honor.

Miss Morton evinced delight on her arrival in the Virginia town founded 170 years ago by Col. James Wood, of the English city, and remarked that she had noticed many landmarks suggestive of her own home place. The queen and her party came by train from New York to Washington and thence by motor through the famous old English hunting country of Virginia.

In her party were her mother; Mrs. B B. Dutton, chairman of the festival department of the queen and her court; Mrs. McGuire, Thomas B. Byrd, J. Victor Arthur, Paul Gaylord and Fred L. Glaze, sr., of the festival organization.

Thirty-five musical organizations will play here during the festival, according to the music committee of the celebration, marking the blossoming of apple orchards in the Shenandoah-Cumberland-Potomac district. The bands and drum and bugle corps will compete for cash and trophy prizes.

The queen's parade will be headed by the United States Marine Band, of Quantico, Va., numbering 100 musi-

HONDURANS CLASH IN FIERCE FIGHTING

Wires Fail as News Comes of Attack on City in Tobacco Zone.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, May 1 (A.P.).—Fierce fighting was reported today to have taken place between rebel forces in the north and government troops.

The rebels started an attack this morning on Santa Rosa de Copan, leading northwestern city, in the center of the tobacco zone, which is famous for its Mayan ruins. Two hours later, at noon, all telegraphic communications with the city had been interrupted. News of the fighting was received from other towns in the vicinity.

Military circles here feared it was impossible to prevent the rebels from taking Santa Rosa, since the garrison there was small compared with attacking forces.

The last message received from the town came from the military commander, Col. Diego Garcia, brother of Corons Garcia, private secretary to the president. He said the fighting was severe, but his men were resisting gallantly against much superior forces.

The government sent a large body of troops, under command of Gen. Jose Maria Reina, from San Pedro to Santa Rosa, hoping they would ar-

TELEVISION WEDDING SEEN 14 MILES AWYA

Radio Audience Witnesses Ceremony Performed in New York.

New York, May 1 (A.P.).—As members of the radio audience, or at least a part of it, listened and looked, they saw Frank Duvall and Grayce Jones become man and wife before microphone and photoelectric cell tonight.

They were guests via the ether lanes at the "first television wedding."

In the screen of the television receiver could be seen the principals as the ceremony was performed by Dr. A. Edwin Keigwin, pastor of the West End Presbyterian Church and president of the Greater New York Federation of Churches.

Voices of the participants could be heard, too, for the broadcast was in effect a "radio movie," being transmitted by New York's new sound and sight stations WGBS-W2XCR.

The bride, who is a member of the staff of D. E. Replogle, vice president of the Jenkins Television Laboratories of Passaic, N. J., was given away by her mother, Mrs. S. Kappel, of Newark, N. J.

Hope Hampton was maid of honor. The bridegroom is an engineer on the Jenkins staff. The romance began in a television laboratory.

Seated at a television receiver, located 14 miles from the transmitter, and with a sound set close by, "television viewers" could make out the action easily in spite of the handicap of fading.

LAYMEN CLAIM BISHOP CANNON HARMS CHURCH

Richmond Paper Quotes Petition Suggesting That He Resign.

LOSS OF CONFIDENCE CHARGED TO COLLEGE

Skeptical Attitude Is Shown by Reported Decrease in Contributions.

Richmond, Va., May 1 (A.P.).—The Times-Dispatch says a petition forwarded to the Southern Methodist College of Bishops at Nashville by Methodist laymen charges "untold harm" is being done the church because of the "Cannon case" and says, "The least that could be asked of Bishop Cannon under these circumstances is that * * * he resign his office."

The petition as published by the paper says reports reflecting on the moral character of Bishop James Cannon have been published throughout the country and that the bishop "has made no public statement that would vindicate himself or that would relieve the church of the embarrassment which she suffers by reason of the fact that he is one of her bishops."

"The least that could be asked of Bishop Cannon under the circumstances is that for the good and peace of the church he resign his office," the Times-Dispatch says in quoting the petition.

Text of Petition Given.

The full petition as published by the Times-Dispatch follows:

"Thousands of laymen throughout our church are much exercised over the Cannon case, and in the light of reports that are current, do not feel that Bishop Cannon has been vindicated or that the church has been relieved of a very serious embarrassment.

"The conviction grows that this case is costing the church untold harm. The injury being done is more far-reaching than any of us know. A great many laymen are refusing to contribute to any of our causes except the local church expense. Some of our best people who know something of the story have had their confidence in the standards of the church severely shaken.

"The laymen are the supporters of the church. In the light of these facts, which are becoming very generally known, we earnestly pray that our bishops find some means to restore confidence in the moral integrity of the church. The least that could be asked of Bishop Cannon under these circumstances is that for the good and peace of the church he resign his office.

Regard Situation as Serious.

"We regard the situation as very serious for the present and future of the church. Reports that gravely reflect on the moral character of Bishop Cannon have been published throughout the country. He has made no public statement that would vindicate himself or that would relieve the church of the embarrassment which she suffers by reason of the fact that he is one of her bishops. The proceedings of the committee of investigation have been kept secret and the public is wondering what there is that cannot be told. This is a condition unparalleled in the history of our church, and one so serious that we feel it calls for extraordinary action.

"We sincerely request that you give the facts in the case your careful consideration and take such action for the relief of the church as your godly judgment may dictate."

The Times-Dispatch says a number of personal letters from laymen have likewise been forwarded to Nashville requesting the college of bishops not to make Bishop Cannon president of the college.

Petitions Await Presentation.

Nashville, Tenn., May 1 (A.P.).—Petitions for and against the resignation of Bishop James Cannon, jr., tonight awaited presentation to the College of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

It became known tonight that Bishop Cannon's friends have not been idle while petitions seeking his resignation have been circulated, and that tomorrow the college will receive indorsements of the bishop, along with requests for his resignation.

The indorsements were said to have come from Virginia, where most the

War Debt Remission Policy Is Unchanged

Cancellation or Reduction Opposed by President; German Leader Expected to Submit Question to International Chamber of Commerce.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

There has been no change in the administration's policy with regard to the $12,000,000,000 debt that is owed to the United States by the allied nations. President Hoover is opposed to canceling the debt or to scaling it down.

The debt question is expected to come to the fore at next week's meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Bernhard Dernberg, former minister of finance of Germany, has, upon the request of the committee on international settlements and economic information, prepared a report on the question which he will submit to the International Chamber of Commerce as a basis for a general discussion.

Thus far, the United States has collected from the debtor nations the sum of $2,515,300,348. This leaves $11,608,742,087 still to be collected.

Great Britain owes the United States $4,398,000,000; France, $3,865,000,000; Italy, $2,017,000,000; Russia, $192,000,000 on the principal and $116,000,000 in accrued interest. Other nations which owe the American Government money are Armenia, Austria, Belgium, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Esthonia, Finland, Greece, Hungaria, Latvia, Liberia, Lithuania, Nicaragua, Poland, Roumania and Jugoslavia.

In the fiscal year of 1931, which ends on June 30, the United States is scheduled to receive $251,921,051 from its sixteen foreign debtors, and in the fiscal year of 1932 it is scheduled to receive $262,355,000.

With the Treasury facing a deficit that may exceed $300,000,000, these payments on the debt take on more than ordinary importance.

The agitation for cancellation or a scaling down of the allied debt is by no means confined to Europe. Quite a number of prominent Americans have come out for a change in this country's debt policy.

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co., an outstanding expert on international finance, recently had this to say about the debt:

"All the war debts between nations have recently been heavily increased

Asbestos-Clad Men Ready To Blast Out Oil Well Fire

Ninth Victim of Blazing Inferno Succumbs as Two Brothers, Known World Over in Their Unique Trade, Complete Preparations.

Gladewater, Tex., May 1 (A.P.).—The Kinley brothers, known throughout the oil fields of the world for their success in blowing out oil and gas well fires, are faced with the most dangerous job of their daring careers and at last have decided to don asbestos suits.

Sizing up the task ahead of them in taming the flaming Sinclair oil gusher near here, which has been blazing since Tuesday night, when it caught fire and killed nine men, the Kinleys tonight pronounced it the "worst fire we have ever had to go into."

Tomorrow, or perhaps not until Sunday, the brothers, M. M. and Harry Kinley, of Tulsa, Okla., will attempt to set off a charge of nitroglycerine at the mouth of the well and blast out the flames.

They said the fire was so hot they would be forced to wear asbestos suits in walking into the inferno. In previous fire fighting they had scorned such protection, merely dousing themselves with water and advancing behind a metal shield.

An airplane propeller rotating at high speed will be used in an attempt to fan back the flames as the brothers carry the explosive to the well crater.

Texas Rangers set up two machine guns, their intention being to shoot away the "Kelly joint," plainly visible in the fire—so it could be removed with other debris in preparation for the blasting operation.

Officials of the Sinclair Oil Co. estimated the cost of extinguishing the fire would be in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Frank Felock, 39, of Warner, Ohio, a member of the drilling crew of the burning well, died late today, the ninth victim of the tragedy.

Women Score Deportation Of American-Born Widow

Canadians Vigorously Protest United States' Ouster of Penniless Mother and Three Children; Mrs. Wiley Cites Amended Law.

(United Press.)

Vigorous protest against deportation of a destitute United States-born woman from Detroit with three children was voiced last night by the National Woman's Party, militant feminist organization.

The woman, Lillian Larsh, lost her citizenship through marriage to a Canadian, who died six months ago, but the Woman's Party pointed out that under a new law she was entitled to regain it without delay. The organization in a statement attacked the deportation also as a violation of the Government's previous policy not to deport United States-born women.

Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, chairman of the organization, made public a telegram of protest she received from Wallaceburg (Ontario). Charity officials and herself cited the case as "a burning indictment" of inequalities in our nationality law.

The Woman's Party is asking the Labor Department to investigate, and also is investigating the cause of the deportation in Detroit, through its Michigan branch, headed by Mrs. Rilla A. Nelson.

Four children, aged 6 to 11, were taken to Canada with Mrs. Larsh, one of whom was born in the United States. She had only $1.50 to live on, according to the telegram from Wallaceburg officials.

It was understood the child born in this country was taken along when the mother and the three Canadian-born children were deported, because there was no other place for it. The reports also indicated the family has been destitute for some time and dependent upon Detroit charity.

"The corporation of Wallaceburg, Ontario, wishes to register a strong unfavorable communications originated. The latter included requests that steps be taken to prevent Bishop Cannon's succession to the presidency of the college.

Church officials pointed out that the college has no authority to oust a bishop, but that it can amend the rules relating to the presidency.

Probe Blocked Succession.

The existing procedure is based on seniority, and Bishop Cannon under the rules, was to have become president at the conclusion of the last meeting. He was under investigation at the time, however, and Bishop W. D. Beauchamp, of Richmond, succeeded to the presidency.

None of the petitions in the secretary's hands came before the college today. It transacted business of a routine nature. The college voted to submit to the conferences this year the question of forming a judicial council, which would settle controversial matters now decided by the college.

A new edition of the Manual of Discipline, a booklet issued from time to time to interpret new church legislation, will be reviewed and approved by a committee composed of Bishops W. A. Candler, Atlanta; John M. Moore, Atlanta; W. F. McMurry, Fayette, Mo., and W. N. Ainsworth, Birmingham. Bishop Collins Denny, Richmond, who compiled the manual, will review it with them.

Bishop Asks Short Delay In Senate Fund Hearing

(Associated Press.)

Bishop James Cannon, jr., has asked Chairman Nye, of the Senate campaign funds committee for a few days' delay in the hearing set for next Wednesday on the Southern Methodist churchman's anti-Smith campaign expenditures in 1928. Until he frames a reply, the North Dakota senator declined to make public the bishop's letter or say whether he would grant the request.

Bishop Cannon is understood to be desirous of attending the hearing, and wants it postponed until he can reach Washington from the West. The committee decided early this week to resume the inquiry it started last February into complaints involving disposition by Bishop Cannon of $65,300 he received from E. C. Jameson, of New York, for use in opposing Alfred E. Smith in Virginia.

The decision to continue the inquiry was made in the face of protests by the churchman that the committee lacked authority.

PRESIDENT APPROVES PAY INCREASE DENIAL

of Congress shall be carried out and the salary increases contemplated in law shall be given to employes. But Congress is a long way from meeting and whatever resolution is adopted—if any is—would not be retroactive.

"Water over the dam doesn't flow back up again," Senator Brookhart said.

Miss McNally met the declaration from the White House that employes were being kept on the Government pay roll although need for their services had ended with a question.

"Where are these needless employes?" she asked.

"The organized Government employes do not want inefficient management; to the contrary we are striving to eliminate inefficiency in Government personnel matters.

"The employes resent this new ruling as unfair. There is nothing we can do about it until Congress convenes and again expresses its desires.

Long Hours Are Instanced.

"If there are large numbers of employes on the Government pay rolls who are not needed, why is it that the administration continues to force some employes to work 12 hours a day and seven days a week?

"Statements such as are made by Representative Wood give an entirely erroneous conception of Government work. Some employes of the Government are required to be on responsible duty as much as 18 hours a day. Employes are overworked in the Indian service, in the Veterans' Bureau hospitals, in the airways service and many other branches.

"Conditions are deplorable in the Government service, especially in the smaller cities and towns. It is so hard to get the actual conditions before the public, which is deceived by generalities based on Washington, where there are many Government employes forced to work outrageous hours, forbidden annual leave, sick leave and whose pay is held down by their chiefs."

No Protest Is Planned.

"No," she added, "we are not now going to present any protest. What's the use? It wouldn't be considered."

How much money will be saved the Treasury by the new Cabinet rule no one would venture to estimate. Senator Brookhart estimated the amount would be $4,000,000. That means that so much money appropriated by Congress for salaries for the fiscal year 1931-32 would not be spent because of the new rule whereby employes would not be given the salaries contemplated by Congress.

The senator pointed out that the amount appropriated for salaries for Government employes in the District alone is $110,000,000, and that this sum did not include the salaries of thousands of employes in the field service. Employes in the field service outnumber those in Washington by about six to one, it was said.

Parent Education Meeting Is Opened

Hot Springs, Ark., May 1 (A.P.).—A radio address by Dr. John William Copper, United States Commissioner of Education, from San Diego, Calif., opened the national conference on parent education here today.

Forty-two States were represented. Most of the delegates are members of the executive board of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, which opens its annual convention here after the education conference.

In his radio address, Dr. Cooper said "mother's head must be added to her heart in child training."

Flowers Fill Room Of Mother Jones

Workers Honor Memory of Labor's Patron Saint on 101st Birthday.

Mother Jones, patron saint of the working man, is dead, but her memory lingers on in the hearts of her "boys," as she liked to call the workers she led in many a labor battle. Yesterday was the 101st anniversary of her birthday. Mother Jones died November 30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Burgess, on Riggs road, 6 miles from the District line.

The upstairs room in which she died was banked with flowers yesterday—flowers that her "boys" had remembered to send in memory of the valiant spirit which had led labor on to so many victories.

The room has been closed since her death, and was not opened until the first of the flowers began to arrive. Dhen the flowers have faded, the room again will be closed, for Mrs. Burgess says that the room never again will be occupied.

The District Commissioners yesterday forwarded a letter to Attorney General William D. Mitchell asking the Department of Justice to look into the charges of price-fixing by Washington coal dealers if the superficial evidence is of "sufficient importance for action."

Roberts, superintendent of weights, measures and markets, would "be glad to furnish additional information" to any one assigned to the case.

Many of the volumes taken were said to have been very old and valuable. The great stack of missing volumes was found in the basement of an apartment house at Fourteenth and Clifton streets northwest several months after Young had given up his apartment there and moved to North Carolina.

Young sold none of the volumes he took from the library, and none of them were taken out of the city, Justice Gordon pointed out as extenuating circumstances.

KING GEORGE AND THE CENSUS.

("King George and Queen Mary visited by census taker."—News item.)

QUEEN MARY (as she comes upon the king and the census man)—What's going on here?

King George—The gentleman's taking the census.

Queen Mary—Census? What have we to do with a census?

King George—He says he's got to find out what our names are.

Queen Mary — Surely everybody knows what our names are, George. Don't be silly.

King George—That's what I tried to tell him. But he says people forget easily.

Queen Mary—The idea of asking our names! I think it highly insulting. A fine state of affairs we've come to if the people of England can't even remember our names! I should think you'd resent it very much.

King George—Now, mommer, be reasonable. The way things are going with royalty these days we ought to be glad that anybody is interested enough in us to care what our names are.

* * * *

QUEEN MARY—Just the same, I don't like it. (To the census man)—Don't you know what his name is?

Census Man—Yes, ma'am.

Queen Mary—And don't you know what my name is?

Census Man—Yes, ma'am.

Queen Mary—Well, why ask us, then?

Census Man—I just want to get them officialy.

Queen Mary—They're the same, officially or unofficially.

Census Man — Just the same, I'll have to ask the regular form questions.

King George—Let's answer 'em. It'll help kill the time.

Census Man (to the king)—What is your name?

King George—George Windsor.

Census Man—Occupation?

Queen Mary — Don't answer him, George. He knows very well what your occupation is.

King George—I'm a king.

Census Man—Married or single?

King George—And How!

Queen Mary—What was that?

King George—I said I was married and proud of it.

* * * *

CENSUS MAN—Are there any wage-earners in the family?

King George—Shall I answer that, mommer?

Queen Mary—Certainly not. The man is positively insulting. It's a wonder he doesn't ask if I do my own washing.

Census Man—Were you out of employment at any time during the past year.

King George—No, I guess you're thinking of King Alfonso!

Census Man—That will be all. Thank you very much.

King George (as he leaves)—Don't forget the name now. Windsor * * * George Windsor!

Queen Mary (calling after him)—And wife, Mary!

SLUMBER SONG FOR A METROPOLITAN MAYOR.

("The thing that hurts me is the complaint of the housewife who writes in to say that her ashes are not removed."—Mayor Walker, of New York.)

Sleep, your honor, sleep,
And slumber through the night;
Close thy weary eyes—
My ashes are all right.

Rest, your honor, rest—
Toss not upon thy cot!
The ashman has been here,
I prithee worry not.

Close thy weary eyes,
In full escape from toil;
Forget my ashes, James,
I now am burning oil!

THE stock market is so weak they are talking of using oxygen. But, on the other hand, it is doubtful if the market would even take oxygen at present levels.

New Martinsville Board Is Undaunted as Pupils Declare Strife.

New Martinsville, W. Va., May 1 (A.P.).—Striking high school students paraded here today with a band while one member of the school board said the board would close the school before it would accede to the students' demand that Basil Liggett be reappointed coach of athletics.

Citizens at a mass meeting last night invited members of the board to attend a meeting tonight to explain why Ligget and other members of the school faculty were not reemployed.

Three of the heroes lost their lives, and to the dependents of two of these were granted pension aggregating $660 a year. One of those granted medals sustained injuries, and disablement benefits totaling $375 were granted him.

Money awards totaling $20,000 also were made, $8,000 in five cases for educational purposes and $12,000 in 14 cases for other worthy purposes.

Maryland Youth Rewarded.

Pennsylvania, with six, led the list in the number of awards by States. Ohio had five, New York, four; West Virginia, two; Texas, two, and Oklahoma, Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina, one each.

James T. Anthony, III., aged 17, Rural Route 1, Chestertown, Md., was awarded a bronze medal for attempting to save Rayfield Reed, 13, from drowning at Chestertown, Md., June 25, 1930.

Rayfield fell from a bridge into the Chester River, and Anthony, almost fully clothed, jumped from the bridge and swam to him. Rayfield grasped at Anthony's neck, but the later broke the hold. Anthony tried to swim toward the bank, but the current retarded their progress. Another boy, who was a good swimmer, joined them, but they still were unable to swim toward shore. Finally a motor boat picked them up. Rayfield was semiconscious, but was revived. Anthony was fatigued, but recovered.

Virginian Gets Medal.

Charles S. Frost, 2100 Hanover avenue, Richmond, Va., was awarded a bronze medal for attempting to save A Stanley Kratz, jr., 18, schoolboy, from drowning at Glass, Va., September 7, 1929.

Kratz fell from a boat into deep water in the Severn River, and the boat drifted away from him. Frost, an 18-year-old schoolboy, swam to Kratz from a pier and started to tow him. He swam with him for about 300 feet toward the pier, when he called for help. A box drifted by and Frost gained support on it until a boy reached them in a rowboat. Frost collapsed, but recovered. Kratz could not be revived.

2 POLICEMEN HELD ON MAYHEM CHARGE

Lewis Finks, Carl McIntosh Arrested at Arlington County Courthouse.

Police Officers Lewis Finks and Carl McIntosh, both of Fairfax County, Va., were arrested yesterday at the Arlington County Courthouse by Sheriff Howard B. Fields on a warrant issued by Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth, charging them with mayhem resulting from having shot Leroy Holsinger, 40 years old, in a fight waged by the three on the Chain Bridge road, in Arlington County, Thursday afternoon.

Commonwealth's Attorney Gloth, in refusing to accept bond, declared the attack upon the man was a most brutal one. Having been refused bond at the hands of Mr. Gloth, the two officers, through their counsel, Jesse Phillips and Klinge, appealed to Judge Walter T. McCarthy in the Circuit Court. Bond for each officer was placed at $2,000 for their appearance in court Monday, June 15, the opening day of the June term of the Circuit Court.

The officers were brought to the Arlington County Courthouse by Wilson Farr, Commonwealth's attorney for Fairfax County, it having been determined that the trouble took place within the limits of Arlington County.

Holsinger is confined in the Georgetown Hospital, Washington, where it was said last night that he is still in a serious condition as a result of gunshot wounds.

Sheriff Howard B. Fields called all his officers to his office yesterday morning and warned them as to the proper use of their guns.

"While I have not called you here to give you a lecture in the terms of finding fault, I wish to say now that I do not want one of my men to forget the proper use of his gun. Do not shoot a man unless your life is in danger, or if he is making his escape having committed arson, rape or murder," the sheriff said.

"If any two of you can not bring a man here that has committed a crime, you had better report to this office and turn in your badge and gun, because I do not need you.

"The officers of this county have a good name, and, remember, anything that you may do reflects upon me. I want you to continue to maintain the record this force now holds," he concluded.

JURY FACES RECALL IN PRINCE GEORGES

Judge Mattingly Intimates He May Summon Body Before Next Term.

Possibility that the Prince Georges County grand jury might be convened again before its term expires next October was seen yesterday in a statement by Judge Joseph C. Mattingly, of the circuit court, that the work left this term of court might be finished in six or eight days, "unless the grand jury is recalled."

The jury, which finished its semi-annual session last wek, recommended that it be called more often, so that it might investigate crimes soon after they happen. Several crimes have been commited recently in the county, but no suspects are under arrest except in the Thorne murder case. Washington police have a man, under sentence in the District, who may be questioned in connection with the murder of the Marine whose body was found in a shallow grave in Greater Capitol Heights.

Judge Mattingly's statement was made to the petit jury which he was discharging until after June 1. The court goes to Calvert County Monday. The judge said about sixteen criminal cases remain to be tried this term and about eight civil cases. Ordinarily the grand jury meets only once, at the beginning of its six-months' term, but it may be convened at any time by order of the court.

Samuel Spencer, colored, yesterday was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary for the murder of Edward Cole, of Croome, as the court handed out several sentences.

Harold McKee, colored, was sentenced to six years for assault with intent to kill on Harry Melton, a Washington taxi driver. Melton, assaulted with a lead pipe during a holdup, was in a hospital several months.

Bernice Beasley, colored, who pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the shooting of Morris Moore, of Fairmont Heights, was sentenced to serve five years, and her mother, Emma O'Neil, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter, was fined $100.

Donald Pinkney, colored, found guilty of manslaughter yesterday, was sentenced to serve three years in the House of Correction. Pinkney was the driver of a car which struck and killed Joseph Clifton, of Silver Hill, on the Southern Maryland pike.

Arthur Davis yesterday was held for the Prince Georges County grand jury on a charge of jail breaking after he had been fined $100 and sentenced to six months in jail on a liquor charge.

Davis escaped from the Bladensburg jail on March 18, and was recaptured Wednesday by Washington police. Bond for Davis, who is colored, was set at $1,000 on the jail-breaking charge. He faces a sentence of from one to ten years under the Maryland law.

James Brown, colored, of Dupont Heights, was seized with an epileptic fit shortly after being fined $25 on a charge of assault and battery. He was treated by Dr. James I. Boyd and removed to the jail. Brown was accused of assault and battery on George Forbes, during a fight in Dupont Heights. John Lynn, of Suitland, accused of the same offense on the same man, was fined the same amount.

State Policeman W. A. Rogers obtained eight convictions in police court yesterday for traffic offenses. One of his prisoners, Bennie Becraft, of K street southeast near Thirteenth stret, was fined $100 for driving while drunk and $1 for reckless driving. He was committed to jail in default of the fine.

Charles W. Good, of Greater Capitol Heights, was fined $10 for having fictitious markers and $5 for having no title to his car. James Queen, of R street northwest near Thirtieth street northwest, paid $5; John Radtke, of Benning, forfeited $5; Harold Beavers, of Seward Square southeast, forfeited $10, and Herbert C. Young, of E street southeast near Twelfth street, forfeited $10 on charges of reckless driving.

Thomas Blackwell, of Bruce place southeast near Stanton road, was fined $10 for having no license, and $5 for reckless driving. Martin Davis, of Ainger place southeast near Pearsons place, was fined $10 for allowing his car to be operated by an unlicensed driver.

Howard Brown, of Suitland, was fined $10 after being convicted of throwing stones at an auto, and Richard Colbert, of Forestville, was fined $5 for being drunk and disorderly. Achille P. Henderson, of Minnesota avenue southeast near Twenty-third street, and Edward R. Crismond, of B street northeast near Eleventh street, were fined $10 each for being drunk and disorderly.

Strawn Turner Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold services May 30 at the memorial fountain on the court house lawn in Upper Marlboro, in honor of the soldier dead. The ceremonies will begin at 11 o'clock. Speeches and music will comprise the program.

Ceremonies to Be Held at Ash Lawn on July 4; First in State.

Charlottesville, Va., May 1 (A.P.).—Plans are being completed for the unveiling of the statue of James Monroe at Ash Lawn on July 4, the one hundredth anniversary of the death of the fifth President of the United States. It will be the first statue of Monroe ever set up in Virginia, his native State.

The Virginia James Monroe Centennial Commission, recently appointed by Gov. Pollard, will sponsor a Monroe memorial program at the University of Virginia during the Institute of Public Affairs to be held at the university the last week in June and the first week in July.

Landscape gardeners have been at work for some time putting the grounds into shape. The monument will be erected on an evergreen oval on the east side of the entrance, and will face the highway leading to the new shrine.

Suit for $15,000 damages was filed in circuit court at Rockville yesterday by John D. Burdette, naming Frank S. Gladhill, Upton F. Gladhill and Bernard Gladhill as defendants. The suit alleges negligence of the defendants and their agents in the operation of an automobile was responsible for the death of Boyd Algius Burdette, infant son of the plaintiff.

The suit was filed by the law firm of Peter, Oxley & Simpson, of Rockville. The suit alleges that fast, careless driving was the cause of the striking of the child on the Boyd Station-Buck Lodge road, injuries received in the accident causing his death.

Decree of absolute divorce from Mrs. Minnie Lee Hester Brown, of Clarendon, Va., was awarded yesterday to Henry Baxter Brown, of Silver Spring, Md., by Judge Robert B. Peter in circuit court of Rockville. The petition of the husband charged infidelity and named a corespondent.

Mayor of Annapolis Will Seek Reelection

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 1.—Mayor Walter E. Quenstedt, Republican, today announced his candidacy for renomination and election, and Roscoe C. Rowe will be his running mate for city councilor. Indications are that they will be unopposed, hence there will be no necessity for a primary election.

Col. John De P. Douw apparently has the Democratic nomination for mayor safely tucked away, although Dr. Gordon H. Claude also is in the field. Leaders of the organization, or dominant faction of the party, appear to have rallied behind Douw's candidacy, although he has opposed them in a number of campaigns.

ALDERMAN FUNERAL TO BE THIS MORNING

No Eulogy at Simple Service Before Family and Pallbearers.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., May 1.—The body of President Edwin A. Alderman, of the University of Virginia, who died suddenly while on his way to the University of Illinois to take part in the inauguration today of President Harry Woodburn Chase, rested today in his residence atop Carr's Hill, where he had entertained as guests four Presidents—Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson and Coolidge.

A small group of faculty members and students of the University stood with bared heads at Union Station upon arrival of the casket from Connellsville, Pa., at 5:40 this morning. Accompanying its were Profs. John Lloyd Newcomb and Ivey F. Lewis, faculty members, who went to the Pennsylvania city Wednesday night.

The funeral rites, to be held from the University Chapel at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, will be extremely simple. There will be no eulogy of the deceased, spoken or written.

Chapel Capacity Limited.

Services will be in charge of the Rev. Dwight Moody Chalmers, pastor of the Charlottesville Presbyterian Church, of which Dr. Alderman was a member. He will be assisted by the Rev. Noble C. Powell, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Baltimore; the Rev W. Kyle Smith, secretary of the University Young Men's Christian Association; the Rev. Beverley D. Tucker, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Richmond, and Dr. Walter L. Lingle, president of Davidson College, and an intimate friend of Dr. Alderman.

Prof. Harry Rogers Pratt will preside at the organ, and a double quartet of students will render two of Dr. Alderman's favorite hyms, "Abide With Me" and "The Son of God Goes Forth to War."

As the chapel's seating capacity is very limited, only members of the family and the honorary pallbearers will be admitted. The student body of 2,500 will assemble on the north front of the rotunda and after the start of the services will meet in front of the gothic chapel and form a guard of honor through which the casket will pass on its way to the hearse. The procession will then move to the University Cemetery, at the foot of Observatory Mountain, where interment will take place.

Condolence Messages Continue.

Hundreds of messages of sympathy continued to pour into the Alderman home today. From the White House came the following: "I am distressed to learn of the sudden death of your distinguished husband. Mrs. Hoover joins me in expression of heartfelt sympathy. Herbert Hoover."

Two cablegrams came from men who had been asked to serve as honorary pallbearers—one from Abraham Flexner, of the Rockefeller Foundation, now in Berlin, and the other from Charles R. Crane, former Minister to China, who is in Carlsbad. The latter said: "Affectionate sympathy to faculty and students in their loss of the rare devoted friend, the noblest interpreter of American life and ideals."

"No man stood higher in my admiration, both for his personal character and achievements and his public service," wired John W. Davis, former Democratic candidate for President. "His friends, the university and the country have sustained an irreparable loss."

CASH, MERCHANDISE AWAIT AD WRITERS

Combined Periods in Post-Zain Contest End Wednesday; Get Busy and Enter.

Step on it. Lots of prizes for every one. You have only a few more days to write ads for this current period of the Post-Zain $10,000 ad writing contest for amateurs.

That $100 check and the $165 ABC Washer are waiting for the winners whose ads are considered the best in the combined third and fourth period, which ends at noon Wednesday, May 6.

In addition, nearly 600 other people will be lucky and win merchandise awards and special prizes. Read the rules of this contest and get into this facinating, stimulating, profitable game of ad writing without delay. All you need is an idea, pencil and paper. Don't be discouraged if you haven't won prizes. Keep on trying.

Here are some suggestions that may help you write prize-winning ads about the following concerns:

FEDERAL-AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK & TRUST CO. The Federal National, the American National and the Merchants Bank consolidated and formed the large banking house known as the Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co. In writing your ads about this banking house remember that it gives complete financial service to customers. It is not only a national bank and trust company, but a savings bank. Its services range from the renting of a safe deposit box to the executorship of estates, including first mortgage loans. In fact, this bank is "a department store of finance."

Has Various Departments.

Tell about the spaciousness and magnificence of the interior of this bank, which has been done in wood to promote warmth and friendliness rather than the cold marble which we find in most banks. Explain their unique service—each person in that capable banking house is there to serve you.

In your ad bring in the vacation idea. The travelers' checks they issue which insure safety, the making of a will as a precaution, the renting of a safe deposit box for valuables. Tell about their collection department for customers. Their 3% interest rate and their savings account which one can start with the small sum of $1. Remember they exist for one purpose only—to serve! If you want additional information for your ads call this bank or go in and see it. Once inside there is no limit to the ideas you can get for prize winning ads about this concern.

GIBSON BROS.—Good printing the kind done by Gibson Bros. can be neatly exploited in an ad. Write about this concern and the high quality of its work. Explain why good printing is an important aid to business success and explain that Gibson Bros. are always ready to advise the person with printing problems. They maintain a department complete in every detail for service, for the convenience of their patrons, affording them every facility for the selections of paper and materials best suited to any particular requirement. The creation of ideas, designing, photographing, illustrating are only a few of their services which relieve the customer of the irksome details usually necessary in the preparation of a first class job of printing. Remember their slogan, "All in a Nut Shell, the Peak of Perfection." You think up a better one. It isn't as hard to do as it sounds.

Goldsmith Stock Complete.

GOLDSMITH & CO.—You can write attractive ads about this concern. This firm is known far and wide for their policy of true values. Visit this firm—write about their fine stock of jewelry. The courtesies, fair treatment afforded customers. Inspect the wonderful collection of diamonds which Goldsmith & Co. always have in stock. Tell why it sells superior gems at reasonable prices. Or write about the complete stock of fine watches and silverware. Use simple words to tell the message. The idea counts.

MERCHANTS TRANSFER & STORAGE—In writing ads about this concern it is well to remember that over 30 years of quality service has made this firm the leading concern in this business. Write about the carefully constructed warehouses they offer for the safe keeping of household goods and valuables. They are thoroughly modern and absolutely fireproof. Tell about their mothproof storage for the safety and preservation of furs, fabric garments and rugs. Their up-to-date equipment, padded vans, careful, trustworthy men for moving should give you some splendid ideas for ads. Don't forget their baggage-packing and shipping departments. Remember, they maintain offices for freight delivery, have expert riggers and trained men for heavy hauling and make estimates on all classes of work without obligation. They are very glad to give you ad-writing information. Call at their offices, located at 920-922 E street.

WASHINGTON GAS LIGHT CO.—In writing about the Washington Gas Light Co., stress the cleanliness, ease of operation and efficiency of automatic gas heat as compared with other fuels. More Washingtonians this year are turning to gas for perfect heating than ever before.

Graphically, automatic gas heat can be compared with your water system. Suppose you had to provide storage space for your water and be constantly watchful lest your supply give out just when you needed it most. You are used to getting water when you need it—through pipes that give you an endless supply of this necessity. It's the same with automatic gas heat. Without once giving a thought to ordering fuel, or storing it away in fuel bins, you can always have a source of uniform, clean, carefree heat instantly ready to match the ups and downs of the outside temperature.

WOMAN SEEKS GRAND PRIZE

"Writing ads for the Post-Zain Ad-Writing Contest is not only easy but I find it interesting and educational," Mrs. Harrison W. Smith, 224 East Capitol street, director of the West Virginia Historical Society, told the photographer from The Post.

"If you persevere, put forth your best efforts and keep on writing ads I believe your efforts will be rewarded. I won a small prize the second week of this contest and was taken ill and had been unable to read the papers. My interest was just as active, however, and when I had fully recovered which was on Tuesday, I remembered the next day Wednesday was the last day to submit ads for that week's judging. I sat down at my desk at 11:30 p. m. Tuesday and wrote ads until 3:20 o'clock Wednesday morning. After a few hours of rest I took a taxi and rushed with my ads to the editor of the Post-Zain Ad-Writing Contest.

"I am writing an ad now about Rizik Brothers, specialists in Paris creations for women. I hope to win that $1,000 additional cash prize they are giving the winner of the grand award of $1,000, providing the judges' selection is an ad about their concern."

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS.

Thursday, May 14, 2 p. m.—Pair contests, advanced and intermediate classes, both contract and auction.

Thursday, May 14, 8 p. m.—Auction team matches, advanced and intermediate classes.

Friday, May 15, 2 p. m.—Pair contests (final) advanced and intermediate classes, both contract and auction.

Friday, May 15, 8 p. m.—Contract team matches, advanced and intermediate classes.

Saturday, May 16, 2 p. m.—Auction team matches (final) advanced and intermediate classes.

Saturday, May 16, 8 p. m.—Contract team matches (final) advanced and intermediate classes.

The place—The New Shoreham Hotel.

Listing of the final entries in the first annual bridge tournament of Washington players, sponsored by The Washington Post, develops the fact that so far as participants in the events are concerned, the National Capital is about evenly divided between those who wish to play contract bridge and those who prefer the older form of auction bridge.

Another feature of the contract entries is that slightly more persons designate themselves as advanced players than classify themselves as intermediate players, and ask to be assigned to class B. On the other hand, in the auction contests there appear to be more who have asked to play in the intermediate class than in the advanced class.

In this respect entrants have been permitted to classify themselves, the thought of the promoters being not to oblige those who do not qualify themselves as experts to play with those who have had greater experience.

Prizes Same in All Classes.

The less skillful players, therefore, have the same opportunity to win a trophy as the experts, and the prizes are the same in each class and in each form of the game.

Manager Moore, of the New Shoreham Hotel, where the tourney is to be held, is putting forth every effort to make the tournament a great social success as well as a test of skill at the popular game. In addition to R. E. Needham, the tournament manager, who will devote 15 minutes at the beginning of each session to elucidating methods of play and the movement of players and boards, there will be a quota of hostesses who will greet guests upon arrival, make explanations and supply information, besides aiding players in their seating.

Attendants will also be on hand to assist in providing for the comfort and convenience of participants. The hostesses, for the most part, will be teachers and persons familiar with tournament and duplicate playing.

Main Salon Is Being Fitted.

Measurements have been made of the spacious and handsomely appointed parlors where the playing will take place, and these show that the main salon, which is being especially fitted for the occasion and which will not have been used for any purpose, will accommodate 100 tables.

At the same time it will afford ample aisle space for the free movement from one table to another and allow plenty of room for comfort of the players. It is estimated that because of the division of the tournament into the two forms of the game, contract and auction, which will be played at different sessions, not more than one-half the entrants will be so engaged in playing at any one session.

The United States Playing Card Co., of Cincinnati, is shipping to The Post a supply of cards for the event. These are the brands that are most popular with bridge fans the world over. The company guarantees that there are game hands in every deck.

gavel made from material taken from a cliff dwelling near the Roosevelt Dam, in Arizona. The gavel was first used at the Lee Highway Convention in Lawton, Okla., in 1922, and was later used by President Harding in 1923 when he officially placed the "zero milestone" in the Monument Grounds.

One of the most interested spectators at the ceremony was Charles Henry Davis, president of the National Highway Association and president of the National Boulevard Association, who stated that the highway and boulevard should be owned by the Federal Government and cared for as the Lincoln Highway is now maintained, thereby memoralizing the names of both great leaders of the American people.

Hoover's Absence Disappointing.

There were a few present who had not learned of an announcement made early this week that the President would not be able to officiate at the ceremony, because of pressure of business at the White House and the many interruptions which have been caused in official routine by the visit of the King and Queen of Siam. Many could be heard expressing disappointment.

In the governor's official party, in addition to the Lee descendants, was W. J. Showalter, editor of the National Geographic Magazine. He was introduced by the governor as being one of the foremost advocates of the boulevard.

Coincident with the "ground-breaking" for the boulevard, the officials of the Associated General Contractors of America said yesterday that their organization had protested against the use of convict labor in building the boulevard in Arlington County.

They said the original protest had been filed with Chairman Shirley, of the Virginia State Highway Commission, on February 19, and that there was a subsequent interchange of communications, although they said the protest had failed to accomplish its purpose.

NEW CHIEF ASSUMES DUTIES IN ANNAPOLIS

Arrival of Superintendent Is First Step to Reorganize Academy Staff.

Annapolis, Md., May 1 (A.P.).—As guns boomed and 2,000 midshipmen stood at attention, Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart became superintendent of the Naval Academy today.

A native of Michigan, 53 years old, the former commander of the submarine fleet succeeds Rear Admiral Samuel S. Robison, who retired a month ago. He is one of the youngest officers of his rank in the Navy. Capt. Charles P. Snyder had been acting superintendent.

The arrival of the new superintendent was the first step toward reorganizing the entire staff at the academy, as after the graduation in June a new set of officers will train the midshipmen.

Capt. Henry D. Cooke, athletic director, will become commandant of midshipmen. The aids who served under Admiral Robison will leave for sea duty, as is required every three years.

Born in 1877, in Genessee County, Mich., Rear Admiral Hart was appointed to the academy in 1893. In the Spanish-American War he served on the Vixen in the battle of Santiago.

In the World War he was in command of submarine divisions 4 and 5 and tenders, which were sent to European waters in August, 1917. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal.

Rear Admiral Robison became superintendent of the academy in June, 1928, and reaches the statutory retirement age May 15 of this year. He had served as a member of the naval general board, military governor of Santo Domingo, commander in chief of the battle fleet and commander in chief of the United States fleet.

rive before the city fell into the hands of the rebels.

American Minister Lay, at Tegucigalpa, reported to the State Department yesterday that the Honduran insurgents under Gen. Gregorio Ferrera, now reduced to about 200 men armed with rifles and 500 more carrying pistols and machetes, had retreated into the Copan region, where government forces were attempting to surround them.

(Associated Press.)

Within a week the Navy Department plans to leave the situation in Nicaraguan and Honduran waters to the three vessels of the special service squadron, the cruiser Rochester and the gunboats Asheville and Sacramento.

Four ships, the light cruiser Trenton, the aircraft carrier Langley and the destroyers Dupont and Schenck, were ordered withdrawn yesterday and similar orders are to be issued shortly to the cruisers Marblehead and Memphis.

The Asheville last night was en route from Cape Gracias a Dios, Nicaragua, to Cristobal, Canal Zone, with orders to fuel and provision to capacity. The naval storeship, Bridge, was due to arrive at La Ceiba, Honduras, today with supplies for ships remaining in Central America.

With the withdrawal of the four ships yesterday the disposition of vessels in Nicaraguan and Honduran waters was as follows: The Rochester and Marblehead were at Puerto Cortes and the Memphis at La Ceiba, all in Honduras. The Sacramento was at Bluefields, Nicaragua.

The four vessels withdrawn were ordered to rejoin the scouting force at sea. The latter is to leave Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, today for the United States.

Rear Admiral Arthur St. C. Smith, commander of the special service squadron, reported yesterday that conditions continued quiet in Nicaraguan and Honduran ports. In Puerto Cortes, where his flagship, the Rochester, was stationed, he said port operations were normal, with four steamers loading and fruit moving freely from the interior.

Admiral Smith yesterday flew to Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras, for a conference with the American Minister there.

Girl Wedded at 16 Asks Annulment of Marriage

Pointing out that Maryland statutes forbid the wedding of a 16-year-old girl without the consent of her parents, Mrs. Adaline C. Smith, through her mother, Mrs. Adaline C. Greenleaf, of Sixteenth street near K street northwest, yesterday brought suit to annul her marriage to Charles R. Smith.

The marriage, performed in September, 1929, was kept a secret until a week ago, the suit states. The daughter was only 16 years of age when she went through a ceremony at Hyattstown, Md., Attorney W. A. Coombe said, adding that her age was represented as 18 when the license to marry was obtained. The couple never lived together as man and wife, it was declared.

WAR DEBT REMISSION POLICY IS UNCHANGED

in weight. It is becoming a grave question whether the world can support the present structure of international debts at existing price levels.

"Before the present world-wide depression can be replaced by general prosperity the machinery of international lending must be placed once more in motion, and the greatest obstacle to that is the recent increase in the real burden of international war debts."

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who, together with Secretary of Labor William M. Doak, was a luncheon guest at the White House yesterday, made a speech before the Harvard Business School Club recently in which he advocated cancellation or reduction of the war debt.

"As an aid toward wide economic improvement," he said, "the war debts should be modified or canceled so far as that is possible. Such action would lift an economic burden from the backs of labor and would free industry from the destroying effet of excessive economic taxation. At the same time, it would release financial and economic energy for universal service. This would give an impetus to economic recovery which would be of immeasurable value."

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, suggested in his last inaugural address that an official study be made of the proposal for a revision of the debt.

To See

The "CITY OF NEW YORK"

Now comes the announcement that we most dislike to make—that the "City of New York," veteran sailing ship of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, leaves Washington on Monday, May 4.

She will close Sunday night at 10 P. M. There are only Saturday and Sunday left for you to visit this famous old ship and hear for yourself the story of the long voyage to the bottom of the world—the voyage that made history.

The thousands of Washingtonians who have visited the ship during her stay here have found that their trip gave them a never-to-be-forgotten impression of the preparation, the striving, and the final accomplishments of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his men on their daring expedition to the South Pole.

The "City of New York" will be open from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M. Saturday and Sunday. The admission is fifty cents; children under ten, twenty-five cents.

The Ship

Battered by Antarctic ice and torn by the gales that blow forever across the polar wastes, the "City of New York" has her own story to tell to the visitor. That her staunch construction was able to resist the pressure of the ice, and that she is one of the few remaining sailing ships that can be seen by many people, make her doubly interesting.

The Men

The members of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition who are aboard, as they conduct you about the ship, will tell you their own personal experiences in the Antarctic; thrilling tales that will make the two years of struggle and achievement loom in your mind as a living, graphic picture.

The Exhibits

The exhibits aboard the ship are only those things which the men of the Expedition thought of most importance when they prepared for the return voyage from the polar ice. There was not much room; and they brought those treasures which they felt would give to the world the most vivid impression of their life and work in "Little America." You see the clothing they wore, the instruments and equipment they used, the food they ate. You see mile-high aerial photographs of the Antarctic regions, made by Capt. Ashley C. McKinley. There is a team of the sled-dogs who drew their heavy loads across the ice; the radio with which they communicated with America; and many other things of interest too numerous to be chronicled here.

GOVERNMENT SALARIES.

President Hoover's policy on salary increases for Federal employes should not be misinterpreted as a move toward lower wages. Mr. Hoover is a champion of high wages for Government workers as well as for the laboring man in industry. The present policy merely suspends increases which would tend to favor some Federal employes more than others.

Last winter the administration asked Congress to start a three-year program of increasing salaries of employes receiving less than the average for their respective grades. But Congress refused to appropriate the necessary funds. The departments, however, accumulate some funds which can be used for that purpose. In some instances vacancies have been allowed to remain unfilled, and the money thus saved has been used to increase the salaries of other employes. Only employes in divisions with a considerable turnover could profit from such an arrangement. It is more equitable to Government workers as a whole to forbid such increases and wait until Congress makes available funds for uniform advances.

Increases allowed by law will, of course, be paid. The President has merely put a stop to haphazard augmentation of salaries for a favored few. For the most part Government employes, being on regular pay, have not felt the depression, while millions in private industry have been denied work or have had their salaries reduced. The Government is even maintaining employes whose work has slackened because of the widespread unemployment. Men and women on the Federal pay roll should consider themselves fortunate.

Suspension of increases is quite a different thing from wage slashing. In private enterprise there have been almost no wage increases since the depression began. Labor has not pressed for higher wages, because work has been scarce and the cost of living has been coming down. The demand for maintenance of wages is based on sound economic principles, but demands for higher pay in times like the present can not be justified.

President Hoover is making every effort to keep expenses of the Government at a minimum so that higher taxes may be avoided. In all probability this will be accomplished without sacrificing the interests of Federal employes. The Government must look to the welfare of taxpayers as well as employes. A mere suspension of irregular increases while all employes are retained and work is created for thousands through the Federal building program leaves a heavy balance in favor of Government workers.

FLYING FROM JAPAN.

Early in May a good-will flight from Tokyo to San Francisco across the North Pacific will be undertaken by a Japanese aviator, Seiji Yoshihara. The flight is sponsored by the Japanese newspaper Hochi Shimbun. The aviator will follow in reverse order the route of Lieut. L. H. Smith, of the United States Navy, eight years ago.

Yoshihara is an experienced flier, 27 years old. Last summer he flew from Berlin to Tokyo, 6,800 miles, which he says he considered merely as a try-out for his hop over the Pacific. He will fly alone in a Junkers Junior all-metal seaplane weighing less than 900 pounds, with a full flight weight of about 1,500 pounds and with a cruising speed of 80 miles per hour.

The route of the flight includes landings for refueling at eleven points, mostly islands of the North Pacific, before reaching Seward, Alaska. From there on there will be eight stops en route to San Francisco. Upon arrival at Seattle the plane will be converted to a land plane. The total distance of the flight is about 6,240 miles, which will require from two to three weeks for its completion.

The Hochi Shimbun is a progressive newspaper with both morning and evening editions. It was founded in 1872 by the late Marquis Shigenobu Okuma, who also founded the Waseda University and was first president of the Imperial Aviation Association. The paper is sending greetings to President Hoover, hoping that he will accept them in the spirit in which the flight is sponsored—the furtherance of international friendship.

THE EMPIRE BUILDING.

It is significant, indeed, that the world's greatest commercial structure should rise to its towering height amid the skyscrapers of Manhattan when business is at a low ebb. Opening of the Empire State Building, which has replaced the old Waldorf-Astoria Hotel within a year, speaks eloquent volumes of the faith of American business in the future. Builders of this magnificent structure have taken advantage of the depression to break all records in the erection of a monument to big business and modern engineering skill.

The graceful lines of this structure, rising 1,248 feet above the sidewalk, fascinate the imagination. Architects and engineers have achieved what has never been done before. A few years ago people flocked to New York to see the marvels of a building that rose to less than 770 feet. Now the Manhattan horizon is pierced by a number of structures of approximately 1,000 feet in height. The Empire State has outstripped all other buildings, but it may be only a short time before a new structure will stretch up into the sky and look down upon Al Smith's puny playhouse. No one dares to predict what the limit of cloud-scratching monsters of steel and stone will be.

Perhaps the most remarkable thing about this whole project is that these 57,000 tons of structural steel, 10,000,000 bricks, 2,000,000 feet of telephone and telegraph wire, 51 miles of piping and the other component parts have been matched together into a magnificent building in less than one year. More than $55,000,000 has been poured into this structure in a remarkably short time. The Empire State is ready to house 25,000 tenants, and to accommodate many thousands per day on the highest observation towers in the world.

It remains to be seen how New York will react to this added congestion in a busy section of the city. The old controversy over the wisdom of building such mighty towers will be revived. Skyscrapers have been widely condemned on the ground that they shut out light and air. But New York's answer is to build so far above the petty structures of a generation ago that air and light become abundant, and even the noise of city streets is hushed by the distance. This works well so long as the lofty towers are few in number. But if building is unrestrained it may be only a matter of time until the structures of 100 stories or more stand in rows just as do the buildings of lesser eminence today. It may be that cities will be compelled to restrain this mania for height in order to conserve health and practical utility.

THE EXPENSIVE TALKIE.

Few of the millions of patrons who have watched and heard the transformation of the movie into the talkie and the gradual improvement of the sound pictures realize what a revolution in the producing industry the change has entailed. The reequipment of even a moderate plant to make talking films necessitates an expenditure of more than $250,000.

Usually, too, improvements and enlargements in any line are expected to extend potential markets and by bringing larger returns justify the capital investment. But what has the talkie done to the movie producer? It has virtually confined him to the home market, with restricted sales in other English-speaking countries. There was a big demand for American silent films in all countries, but the demand is small for talkies that speak only "American."

Titles for the old-style movies were readily translated into any language, and the pantomime was as universally understood as music; but to appreciate a modern talking production one must not only be familiar with the language in which it is produced, but its slang also.

Attempts were made to use the pictures of actors and accompany them with other voices in other languages. The ruse was too palpable, and audiences would have none of them. Likewise attempts in this country to produce films in foreign languages have only rarely been successful. Mexican movie stars and minor talent available in California can make pictures that will suit Mexico, but good as Mexican Spanish really is, little differences noticeable in other countries make such productions laughed at in Havana, Buenos Aires or Madrid.

One of the largest American picture companies has found it necessary to establish an independent plant in Paris for the complete reproduction of talkies in various languages. There native actors for every tongue desired are readily available. Comparatively few films are in sufficient demand to warrant doing over in any language except French, Spanish or German, but some are being put into as many as twelve.

The pure Castilian of Spain will be used for the films destined for both the Spanish and Latin-American trade. Every Spanish-speaking country on this continent has some peculiarities of speech, but it is palpably impossible to cater to all of them, so they must all accept the "classic" pronunciation of the mother country. The only redeeming feature of all this duplication, from the standpoint of the producer, is that once a scenario has been filmed in English and the sets provided for the actors in other tongues, the time and expense of reproduction are greatly reduced.

FATE OF THE PHILIPPINES.

Independence for the Philippine Islands is one of the questions which will confront Congress at its next session. American farmers who wish to be rid of competition from the islands have added their demands to those of Filipinos. A number of senators and representatives are actively interested in the subject and will certainly press for definite action.

Anticipating a protracted controversy, Senator Hawes, of Missouri, will visit the Philippines this summer in pursuit of facts to guide his course. He has indicated that his chief effort will be to determine whether the Filipinos really want to be cut loose from the United States when they understand what that step means to them. Perhaps Senator Hawes can help the natives to comprehend the responsibilities of independence as well as gather a few concrete facts that will elucidate the issues for Congress.

It is rather unfortunate that Senator Hawes should be making his personal investigation after he is already committed to a bill that would give the Filipinos independence, if they wanted it, after a trial of five years. This measure was introduced in the last session of Congress. It is designed to avoid the economic chaos which would result from sudden disruption of free trade relations with the United States. Most of the Philippine exports come to this country. Any plan to cut the islands adrift without consideration for their economic stability would be foredoomed to failure. Inasmuch as Senator Hawes' plan is based on the necessity for economic adjustments, he may be able on his return to make a better adaptation of it without changing the fundamentals.

One phase of the question which has not been given adequate consideration is this: How could the Philippines maintain their independence, once it had been granted to them? There is little ground for hope that they would remain unmolested without some international guarantee of protection. It is unthinkable that the United States would nurture the islands for 30 years and then expose them to exploitation and subjection by any other power.

Other senators and members of the House might well give this question attention during their vacation months. Congress ought not longer to delay its decision on what shall be done with the Philippines. Each year the economic ties between the islands and the United States become stronger and consequently more difficult to break. At the same time development of the islands is held in check by the uncertainty of their future. An uncertain policy can only aggravate the present unsatisfactory situation.

CALVIN COOLIDGE SAYS:

Northampton, Mass., May 1.—With the convocation of representatives of various lines of industry have come proposals for controlling and standardizing business. Almost all these suggestions are for artificial rules of conduct to save a situation from the inevitable consequences of the force of natural laws. If business is to be controlled from the outside the liberty of action and power of initiative will be greatly circumscribed. If standardization is adopted in its entirety the result is rigid fossilization which prevents progress.

Neither the State nor the Federal governments can supply the information and wisdom necessary to direct the business activity of the Nation. About all that can wisely be done in this direction is provided by trade organizations. Additions to the system promise most if they are voluntary and provide a better coordination of activities. One of the fundamental needs is sound banking. Our financial power continually needs diversion from wrong channels and direction to right channels.

The experience, skill and wisdom necessary to guide business can not be elected or appointed. It has to grow up naturally from the people. The process is long and fraught with human sacrifice, but it is the only one that can work. Edison and Ford are not government creations.

FIVE-YEAR PLAN—U. S. MODEL

From the Detroit News.

A five-year plan for American business! It sounds like the Soviet program in Russia, but it is seriously proposed by Stanley A. Dennis, chairman of the National Conference of Business Paper Editors. And like the Russians, who envisage another five-year plan after the completion of the present one, and another after that, Mr. Dennis would continue to outline a business program for ten or fifteen years to come.

But there is, of course, a large difference between the idea of Mr. Dennis and the Russian scheme. The latter is imposed by the Russian government, which is a dictatorship in the hands of a few men, supported by the army and served by an elaborate spy system. The courts are also in its hands, and violation of its economic edicts is treated almost as a form of treason.

No such plan could receive an instant's consideration in America, and no such plan is proposed. Nothing is asked of the Government. Business itself would organize its own five-year scheme, according to a system worked out by business itself, to which all business would be expected loyally to adhere.

The magnitude of the proposal is immense; it would require the most careful working out in its details. But it is a fact that we have certain key industries whose control is in the hands of relatively few persons—steel and various other metals, oil, motors, for example—and any stabilization plan established by these industries would necessarily have an effect on a multitude of others related to them.

The President's conference on unemployment, which convened in 1921 with Herbert Hoover as chairman, appointed a committee headed by Owen D. Young to make recommendations. One of these was that business men, by controlling the expansion of their own industries, could exercise an important and highly beneficial effect on all business. Said the committee:

"Planning production in advance and with reference to the business cycle, laying out extensions of plant and equipment ahead of immediate requirements with the object of carrying them out in periods of depression and carrying through such construction plans during periods of low prices in conformity with the long-time trend, the accumulation of financial reserves in prosperity in order to mark down inventories at the peak, and the maintenance of a long view of business problems rather than a short view, will enable firms to make headway toward stabilization."

That is the individual program; Mr. Dennis proposes to spread it over all industry. So, after all, the suggestion is not borrowed from Russia; it was implicit in the finding of the American committee a decade ago.

Senator Borah's attack on bureaucratic Washington sounds something like retaliation for Senator Moses' classification of the wild, Western burro-crats in Congress.

Senator Nye, of North Dakota, is whittling down a big stick so that he can use it on big business. At that, it may be as effective as a big business assault on the antitrust laws.

After reading what Gov. Roosevelt says the Democrats have done to renovate and remodel New York's State government, it seems incredible that the legislature and a governorship still remain a part of the scheme.

If Gen. Butler runs for the Senate politics will find some things to say about him that have not been said before, but never that he ran from anything.

It must be very annoying to new revolutionary governments in Latin-America, that are preparing to broach the subject of new loans, to be reminded in public by a representative of Morgan of the outstanding interest on $1,500,000,000 in bonds held by Americans.

Here's hoping it was bedrock the stock market hit that made it bound upward.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

EVEN THE WRENS ARGUE.

The wrens have found a house they like and now they're moving in,
And Jennie Wren is bossing things, as women always do.
The silly male is arguing and kicking up a din,
As if what's right and proper for a modern home he knew.
He's found a bit of shiny stuff I know he wants to keep,
But Jenny Wren won't have it and she's plainly told him so.
I saw her just this morning toss it on the rubbish heap,
And saw him take it back again and heard her answer "no."
Three times he's carried it above, three times she's tossed it out,
Three times he's pleaded with her to admit his treasure rare.
In angry tones she's told him that she knows what she's about
And for such a foolish trinket there's no inch of space to spare.
Oh, I chuckle as I watch them, for the self same things I've heard
And I know I'll hear them over every time I start to roam,
The house is woman's province, and the place would be absurd
If she let in every horror that a man comes lugging home.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY Dear Louise—I was reminded of you this morning when I read a magazine article concerning one of the newest cinema stars.

Though still on the carefree side of twenty, she has published two novels and now is playing the title role in a motion picture play of her own writing.

Rich, pretty, famous, blessed with health, she still confesses unhappiness. "I want to want something," she says.

There, my dear, is the penalty of wealth and success. In all human experience there are few greater misfortunes than loss of the ability to want something.

When desire is gone, life becomes ashes. There is nothing left but insufferable boredom.

When you were a very small girl and I the least experienced and least wise of fathers, Santa Claus brought you a doll—a gorgeous creature that would, I fondly hoped, fill you with rapture.

Your mother and I stood breathless to enjoy your exclamations of delight, but our hopes were born of our little wisdom. You looked at the doll and yawned, and then you said: "Huh! Another doll!"

That word "another" told the story. Love, too fond to be wise, had robbed you of your birthright. At the age of two you had lost the capacity to enjoy a new treasure. Prosperity had stolen your appetite.

The situation wasn't hopeless, however, and steps were taken to mend matters. Most of your play pretties were hidden until you asked for them. And from that day to this I have tried—usually without your approval—to keep you wanting something.

I get uneasy at times because you are satisfied with so little, and perhaps I err on the side of caution and give you less than you should have. But if you have less than other girls, and feel a little dissatisfied, you at least have the greater treasure of desires.

At your age it may be hard to believe, but a good big stock of desires is worth more than many, many possessions. You can face life eagerly so long as you have an unjaded appetite.

You must learn to sip life, honey. Don't gulp it. Temperance in all things is more than morality; it is the foundation of wisdom.

There are only so many "kicks" in store for you. Make them last as long as you can. The kid to envy is the one who still can dream of seeing the circus for the first time. Love, DAD.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

The Governor Refuses.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

The action of Gov. Roosevelt, of New York, in refusing to oust Mayor Walker upon charges preferred against him by a group of citizens, was expected by perhaps the majority of fair-minded people throughout the country.

Mayor Walker's defense, as presented to the governor, was a masterly cumulation of tangible, constructive fact as opposed to a category of generalizations and assumptions.

Remembering the mayor's ancestry, he perhaps should be pardoned for lowering the dignity, and endangering the force of his fine rescript to the governor. It is rather natural for an Irishman to be emphatically specific, and perhaps indiscreet, when his fur is ruffed.

However, it was not he who first started the calling of names, and present repercussions from the camp of his enemies concerning "slander," "misrepresentation," "libelous insinuation," "perversions" and "suppressions" of fact scarcely can be considered either as sporting or in good taste.

Gathering Crime Statistics.

Houston Post-Dispatch.

The report of the Wickersham commission dealing with the gathering of statistics on crime evokes no such outbursts of partisanism as did that body's report on the prohibition problem. The recommendations of the report on criminal statistics can be considered, therefore, calmly and weighed judicially.

To those engaged in law enforcement, such as peace officers, prosecuting attorneys and judges, this report doubtless is of great interest. The layman in such matters, however, can readily see the need for a comprehensive and accurate system of amassing crime statistics, in order that the country may know in detail just where it stands in relation to its crime problem, and in order also that law enforcement officials may have information readily at hand that will enable them the better to perform their duties.

Senatorial Scandal Factory.

Chicago Tribune.

In the guise of an investigation to inform the United States Senate upon the subject of postal sites and leases we have had in Chicago a typical case of the scandal-mongering which a group of senators have been indulging in for some months. The profit to the senators engaged in these enterprises is publicity and the reputation, among the unthinking, of zeal for the public good. The profit to the public so far as the correction of actual wrongs has been nil, but the injury done, both to individuals and to public opinion, is considerable.

Obviously the senator representing the subcommittee and committee of investigation came primed to present a case of public wrong, not fairly to investigate or disclose facts. The impression sought to be given the public is that a great corporation sold the Government land at an exorbitant price. To support this theory a Government appraiser is called to give his opinion on the value of the land sold. The site was sold at the peak level of real estate. It was purchased at a lower price than was asked by owners of neighboring property offered in competition for the postoffice site. Not a word of evidence was offered to show that the transaction was tainted by any improper influence or was carried on in any other manner than that of any other legitimate business transaction.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Beauty Lover Asks for Illumination of Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial and Lee Mansion.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A demure woman made the statement: "George Washington would not be complimented by the installation of the Devil in his monument." The Monument, the Lincoln Memorial and the front of the Lee Mansion should be illuminated to produce an effect similar to the illuminated Capitol."

The people of the United States will not relish the beauty of their National Capital being destroyed by installing red lights in their memorial to George Washington. I nearly dropped dead with horror the first time those red eyes glared at me.

If the Capitol can be so beautifully illuminated, so can the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial and the front of the Lee Mansion.

Somebody in the National Capital has the disease of formal gardening on the brain. They have desecrated Lafayette Park toward the White House by attempting to make a vista. Those magnificent magnolia trees and the cryptomeria trees are very much more attractive than an asphalt pavement for a vista.

They have descreted McPherson Square. Beauty lovers, get busy to save the remaining parks and trees in this sea level desert of asphalt. It is too late to save the magificient avenue of ginko trees in the Mall.

BLANCHE C. HOWLETT.

Senator King Holds That Competition Is Better Than Putting Business in a Strait-jacket.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have read a number of editorials appearing in The Washington Post dealing with the subject of monopolies. They are timely and sound. A recent editorial, entitled "No Monopoly," presents the matter in an admirable way.

If the antitrust laws are to be repealed then it is certain legislation will be enacted placing all interstate business under the control and regulation of Federal agencies. If the competitive system is destroyed in our business and economic life, there will be an irresistible demand that all interstate commerce shall be conducted under Federal license and Federal regulation. I have thought for years that the business men of the United States ought to be the strongest advocates of what might be called proper individualism in business and the preservation of a just and fair competitive system. They certainly should relaize that the American people will never submit to monopolistic control of our industrial life.

It is far better to lives under a competitive system, with all its faults, than to place our industrial system and our business life in the straight-jacket of Federal control.

Democrat Denounces Religious Attacks on Mr. Raskob, but Says He Endangers Success by Stirring Up a Party Split.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: "A Virginia Democrat," in his criticism of the Methodist Board of Temperance for its persistent propaganda against Chairman Raskob, is both tart and timely. As a brother Democrat I agree with him that "these personal attacks on Mr. Raskob" are sadly lacking in the spirit of religious tolerance.

The trouble is that Mr. Raskob is vulnerable on account of his persistent efforts to split the Democratic party on prohibition. This makes him a menace to Democratic success in 1932. The very fact that the Methodists are giving this situation a religious twist is proof of the existence of dynamite under the Democratic camp. Look out. HICKORY.

Daylight Saving by Changing Clocks Is An Unmitigated Nuisance and Hypnotic Bunk.

To the Editor of The post—Sir: There is one thing Washingtonians can be thankful for. We have escaped the daylight saving nuisance. It is a nuisance mainly because it means a dual time schedule.

If certain business concerns wish to employ daylight saving, why don't they have their employes get to work an hour earlier and leave an hour earlier than they do in the winter months? By such a method the hour a day would be "saved," and all time tables would not have to run on a dual schedule. The changing of clocks is mere hypnotic bunk. Time itself can not be changed. Let the daylight savers be honest and hardy enough to get up an hour earlier, and not kid themselves by monkeying with the clock. D. K. B.

Bell the Cats and Save the Songbirds.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Most of the birds that went south to winter have now returned to their old stamping grounds. Soon there will be many young birds leaving their nests for the first time, and their greatest danger is encountering a cat on this first trip out of the nest. Not only is the fledging killed, but often the mother bird when attempting to coax the youngster back to the nest falls prey to the cat.

Dogs are required to be licensed or else subject to the dog-catcher. Why not require all cats be belled? Any cat not belled should be subject to seizure by the dog-catcher. If such a procedure were adopted, it would mean the saving of many song birds. A cat that is belled is unable to creep upon a bird without giving the bird a chance to get away. Then, too, belling cats would mean that stray and alley cats would be picked up by the dog-catcher, and many neighborhoods would be rid of a great nuisance. C. C. PARSONS.

Edith Martin To Make Court Bow in London

Elizabeth Butler Howry to Be Presented at Second Party.

WITH the late spring season comes excitement over the forthcoming presentations at the Court of St. James, with the first drawing room set for Tuesday, May 19.

The list of Americans who will make their curtsies is further augmented by the name of Miss Edith Curtis Martin, a member of one of Philadelphia's most distinguished families, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Martin, of Wedgwood, Wyncote, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. K. Curtis.

Well known in Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis have been sojourning here for a week or more, having cruised from Philadelphia aboard their palatial yacht Lyndonia, which lies at anchor in the Potomac, off Hains Point. Their annual program included a visit to the Capital during the cherry blossom season, and living aboard their yacht, they dispense frequent hospitality to their Washington friends.

Their granddaughter, Miss Martin, after her court presentation, will return to this country with her parents early in June and will make her bow to Philadelphia society at a garden party to be given by them on Friday evening, June 19. The following evening other debutantes and their beaux will come into their own at a dinner dance, which Mr. and Mrs. Martin will give for her at Wedgwood. Miss Martin has been in Europe for a year or more, attending school in France, at Versailles.

At the second court at Buckingham Palace, May 20, Miss Elizabeth Butler Howry, of Washington, daughter of the late Judge Charles B. Howry, will make her bow. Having recently sailed for England, accompanied by her sister, Miss Mary Howry, she has taken an apartment in London at 73 Grosvenor street for the season.

THE show staged by the NBC for the American Association of Advertising Agencies banquet last Thursday brought to Washington one of the largest groups of radio stars since the days when Roxy used to bring his gang here. Among the regular entertainers were Amos 'n' Andy, Phil Cook, Ray Perkins, Gene Austin, the Boswel Sisters, Sisters of the Skillet, Muriel Polock and Vee Lawnhurst, the Russian Cathedral Choir and Hal Kemp's Orchestra.

Amos 'n' Andy, who are in the East for their appearance at the Paramount in New York City, had to hurry away for the 10 o'clock broadcast to Western stations, but had time to do a short skit and introduce their various voices.

M. H. Aylesworth, president of the NBC, introduced the boys, speaking into a microphone connected with the amplification system in the ballroom. When they had acknowledged the introduction, Amos reached for the microphone, turned it around, saying: "I am very much embarrassed to have you folks see that the president of the company doesn't known the right side of a microphone yet."

PHIL COOK will broadcast from Station WRC during the week he is to be in Washington. The other night he left the studios just as A. E. Johnson, chief engineer, and Cooper, an operator, were ready to enter the elevator. Mr. Johnson got in the same elevator with Phil Cook, but Cooper waited for the next one. When the ground floor was reached Mr. Johnson asked Cooper why he had waited.

"I thought it would be too crowded in there with all Phil Cook's army of voices," Cooper replied.

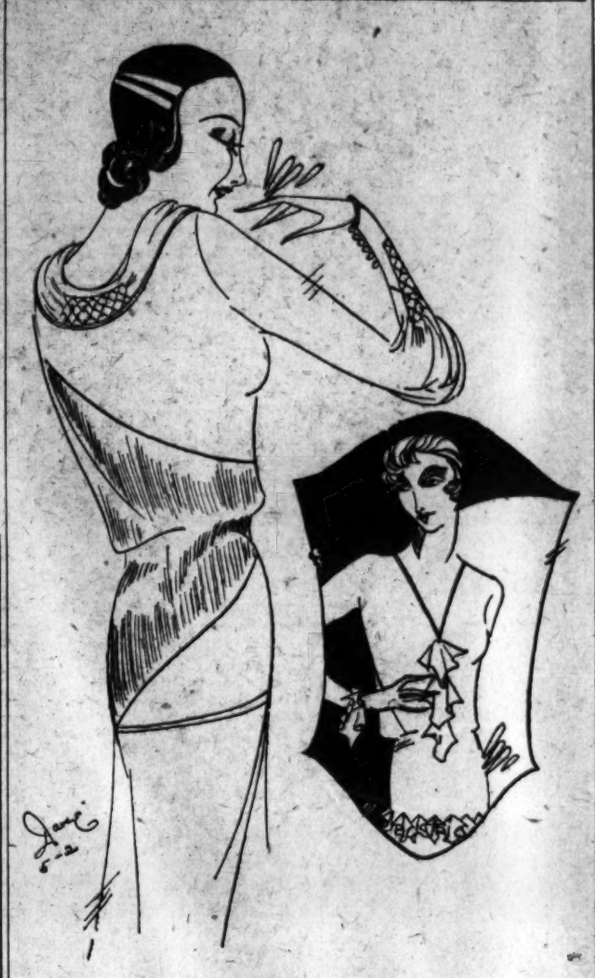
Jane Interprets the Mode

The important part of this spring's ensemble is the blouse! (Says Dah-ray.)



New York, May 1.

AN ensemble depends for its chic upon its blouse, just as much as upon the cut of its jacket or the flare of its skirt. 'N' in these days when one ensemble is used for many more than one occasion, it is the blouse that makes this change possible. The blouses themselves are strikingly individual for this 1931 spring season—if you don't think so wear one of last year's with your new ensemble, and see how just all wrong it looks.

And clever little ladies know the importance of blouses, and have several always ready for wear—gay ones, tailored ones, quaint ones, frivolous ones. And I can assure you, my deahs, that they pay a pretty penny for each one in the shops! All of which led to my idea for this week's leaflet, which comes just in time, don't you think, to help us get our supply of blouses ready to wear out these sunny days?

Yes, I decided to show you how to make some blouses that are really lovely, and that you can make with your own clever hands, and that will give that indescribably chic air and endless variety to your spring costumes!

* * * *

As to the materials, I'll let you decide that yourselves. The important thing is to sit right down and send off your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for my illustrated leaflet giving directions for making blouses—yes, frivolous ones with the phouffs at the wrist (that's just what they are—believe it or not!) my own special Heim blouse that is the envy of all who see it, and other blouses, too. There are two of them I tell you how to make, illustrated today.

* * * *

Watch out next week for my sketch of Jean Patou's new square lipstick—the one with a top that flicks open like a cigarette lighter!

* * * *

Better hurry and send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for this week's leaflet about the great pyjama and street suit combination. We've only a few copies left.

* * * *

Charming simplicity and gracious dignity combined to make a certain evening gown a perfect example of 1931's unparalleled beauty. It was fashioned of pink crepe romain—a beautiful fabric in itself and doubly so when draped and incrusted as was this gown. And wasn't it an unusual accent to have dark blue and strass trimming on such a gown, and a deep back decolletage held in place by crossed bands of the crepe romain in open-work effect?

* * * *

Tomorrow we have another of those weekly fashion letters, which we hope you're enjoying. Look for it in the big Sunday Post.

Au revoir.

YOUR NAME

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

"Rufus Mantell" Means "Red Cloak." "Gladys Cameron" Means "Crippled Hooked Nose."

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph. D.

THE family name "Cameron" is of Celtic origin, being a variation of the Gaelic "Camahron." Its meaning is "hooked nose" or "wry nose." It is evident that "Cameron" belongs to that large group of family names which indicated prominent physical characteristics, and which were first used as nicknames.

Various requests have been received from readers concerning the origin of nicknames. It is a source of wonder to some people that some families have been willing to retain names which have uncomplimentary meanings. Furthermore, why have families with such names accepted them in the beginning? To begin with, all family names are, in a certain sense nicknames. The expression "a nickname" is a modern corruption of the original expression "an ekename." In rapid conversation people said "a nekename" instead of "an ekename," just as careless speakers at the present time often say "a naple" instead of "an apple." In the course of time "nekename" came to be accepted as the proper word because of its popular usage, and later, following the natural trend of the language, it developed into the modern word "nickname." "Nickname," or its original form "ekename," really means "added name." Strictly speaking, it is a name given in addition to one's personal name. Hence, we may rightly say that all family names are nicknames. However, in more recent times the meaning of "nickname" has become much more narrow. As the word is used now, and as it is always used in these articles, it signifies any name which has reference to a personal feature or characteristic, whether it be physical, mental or moral. (The next article of this series will include further remarks concerning nicknames).

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"TAURUS"

IF MAY 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to noon, from 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 7:30 p. m. to 9:15 p. m. There is only one danger period, from 4:30 p. m. to 6:45 p. m.

May 2 holds out, according to the signs, great hope for those engaged in exploration or inventive and research work. Efforts that have extended over a long period will be suddenly and unexpectedly rewarded. Differences amongst friends will arise after sunset unless the emergency brake is applied.

Children born on this May 2 will lead rather prosaic lives. They will be careful, methodical and endowed with very little initiative or originality, and will always seek the path of least resistance. They will be tender-hearted and, as a result, others will impose upon them.

Born on May 2, you do a good many things well, but are prompted to do them, not because the work itself gives you any particular satisfaction, but because of the anticipated praise of your efforts from others. Adulation is unction to your soul, and when it is not forthcoming, you feel hurt and sulk. To see a rival receive honors that, in your exaggerated sense of self-importance, should accrue to you, arouses within you childish and hateful feelings. Though, too, you try to disguise them, you never succeed; every one can read your thoughts.

In sports you are quite a "dab," but, being a poor loser, your sportsmanship is spoiled. This same spirit animates all your actions. You are envious of every one's success, and rather rejoice over their failure. You can and do work hard. When failure or disappointment comes, you "quit," however, and turn to something else. This, of course, does not spell success. If you could work for your own satisfaction, or for the glory of achievement, and forget about the limelight, you would achieve much, as your brain is an active one and your mind is quite keen. Your love nature demands much, and your home life will only be happy if your mate accepts responsibility for all shortcomings, and awards you all the kudos for everything that goes well.

Successful people born May 2:

Harold McCormick, capitalist.

Norma Talmadge, movie actress.

Henry M. Roberts, author of "Roberts Rules of Order."

Clyde Fitch, author and playwright.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

IS it true that newly planted roses require less food than plants which have been in the open two years? SALLIE P.

Most authorities feel that it is not wise to give extra fertilization to newly planted roses the first season. Old, well-established plants require to be well fed. Rose growers who apply a winter mulch of well-rotted manure in the fall dig this under in the spring. With this is also used some bonemeal. Other growers who do not use the mulch always use fertilizer of some kind in the spring. When the flower buds appear in the latter part of May it is necessary to begin feeding the plants with liquid manure. This should be given about once in two weeks. Liquid manure should only be applied after the ground has been literally soaked with water.

Is bonemeal a good fertilizer for lawn use? THOMAS R. W.

Yes, it is one of the best all-round lawn fertilizers, and continues to feed the grass for a year. It is rich in nitrogen and phosphoric acid.

What causes the crowns of my delphiniums to decay?

MISS POLLY P.

When water stands over the crowns of delphiniums, they frequently decay. After cold weather sets in in the fall, it is well to put a shovelful of coal ashes over the crowns of the plants.

Please tell me when to remove the tops of my lilies. I refer to plants which are through blooming.

ANN H. T.

In the case of the Easter lily which has bloomed in the house you must continue to water the plant until the leaves and stems are entirely yellow. Then the pot should be set aside until June 1, when the tops should be removed and the bulb planted in some sunny spot in the garden. The leaves of plants which have flowered in the garden should be thoroughly matured before the tops are removed. When the tops are matured, the foliage is brown and brittle.

You sometimes mention a plant as being a half-hardy annual. Please explain what you mean by this.

AN AMATEUR GARDENER.

A half-hardy annual is one which is a native of a country whose growing season is longer than our own. For this reason we should sow seed of these varieties in the house or hotbed so they may have several weeks' start. In other words, when planted in the open, they will be of such size that they will have ample time to develop flowers before frost.

What causes the perennial phlox (red and pink varieties) to become a sort of purplish or blue pink when three seasons ago they were a most beautiful rose color. ALICE T. F.

The cause is no doubt the dying of the parent type and the succession of volunteer seedlings. The way to overcome this condition is to keep the clumps isolated and lift and divide the roots from time to time.

When is the best time to transplant Oriental poppies? CORA F. T.

Oriental poppies should be transplanted in late July or early August when the plants are perfectly dormant.

Please tell me when to spray my peonies for rust.

MISS NELL T. W.

Do so at once.

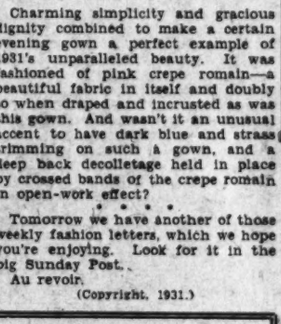
WORK ON BRIDGE

(This article is intended for the Auction and Contract Bridge beginner.)



WITH the above hand at Auction Bridge, South would pass, and West would obtain the contract with a bid of one Spade. North would not be strong enough to double informatorily after his partner had passed.

At Contract Bridge South passed. West, with seven probable tricks, bid two Spades, and East, with 3½ raisers, had ample strength for a bid of four.

North led the King of Diamonds. East played the Seven. South started a signal with the Nine, and West false-carded with the Ten. North won the second trick with the Ace of Diamonds, on which South played the Four. Knowing that South's high-low showed the Queen or a desire to ruff North led a third Diamond. West trumped, played two rounds of Spades and a small Club to put dummy in the lead. Then the Heart finesse was tried, but it lost and game went to it; Declarer losing two tricks in Diamonds, one in Hearts and one in Spades. Could you have made game with this distribution of the cards?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

This hand is a simple example of the "elimination play." West winning trick 3, should play two rounds of Spades, and then start to eliminate. Playing three rounds of Clubs exhausts the Clubs in his hand and dummys and at the same time eliminates any safe lead for North. After finishing with the Clubs, North should be thrown in the lead with a small Spade, thus forcing him to lead a Heart up to West's Ace-Queen or a Club, which Declarer will trump in the dummy and discard the Queen of Hearts from his own hand. This type of play, which crops up with remarkable frequency, substitutes a sure winner for a fifty-fifty finesse.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

The Ways of Adversity.

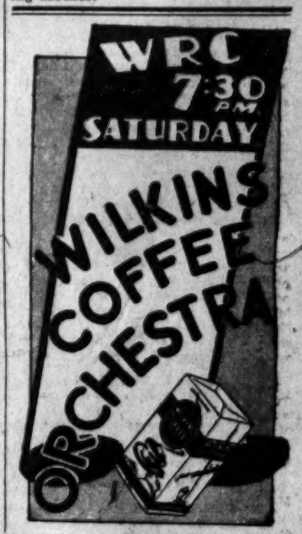
DEAR Frances McDonald: Do tell a distracted woman how to live through this terrible financial situation. We are a family of five—dad, mother, two sons in college, and daughter just out of high school. Our business has gone to smash in the general collapse, and from an income of $9,000 a year we are down to less than $40 a week. That means the boys can not go on at college and no hope for the girl at all. We have not as yet told the boys. I dread to break the news. Daughter suspects—being with us at home. We can not even find a buyer for the home which we must sell somehow. I am afraid the girl must go to work. In fact, I know she must. What do you advise for her to go into? And how can I best break the news? Dad has not the heart, and I do not know how to go about delivering such a blow. Do help us all, as I do not see what is to become of us.

MOTHER.

Honestly, I am ashamed of you. A mother and so little faith in your children—or in life. The idea of all this agony—chiefly on their account—when they will probably all three leap at the chance to show just what is in them and how. Here you are suffering all sorts of horrors over the thought of the "blow" to your daughter, when she may be wishing devoutly that you and dad would quit all the mystery and spill the beans. Bank on your children. You will be surprised. And just between ourselves this is just the sort of thing most boys and girls today need. In the days when fur coats were a luxury instead of a necessity it was possible to think up a surprise or a thrill for a son or daughter, but now! When you have spent nearly $50 for a ten-year-old girl's coat and her eyes fill with tears because it is not a squirrel coat, you begin to think it would be a mighty healthy thing for all of us if some upheaval loaded us all on trains for the open spaces—and a normal life. In a few years there would be thrills again.

This is going to be the making of your family. So stop worrying about that phase. And as to your daughter. It so happens that on a beautiful morning one summer when I was 17 the same news that you dread bringing to your daughter was very gently broken to me. It seemed impossible. But the tears in mother's eyes dispelled all doubt— and the tears were all that mattered to me. I had wanted the fun of college, of course, and felt that without it, writing was out of the question, so in that moment all dreams vanished. But instantly came something to take their place. It was responsibility. Mother needed help. What child would fail to rise to that emergency? Certainly not yours. Your girl will do exactly what I did—and I know it if you do not. She will be so full of plans you will wonder whether she is the same girl who just lived from day to day. In my case I was out and on the job at once, took my teacher's exam and landed a country school which was more fun than any college. All that I regret, even now, is the tears that mother shed over what to her was a calamity. It was no calamity. And I would not weep if at any time the same thing happened to a daughter of mine. I would remember that while my mother was weeping at home I was romping with my flaxen-haired charges down a country lane and finding life very sweet. It is hard to beat youth. And a mistake to underestimate youth's abilities.

So tell your daughter. Then enter her in a good business school. Have her enroll with the big typewriter agencies when she is ready, as they place many applicants in fine positions. She will make good. Just you see that you do likewise, Mrs. Doubting Mother.



Thank you again!

MEMORIAL SOCIETY MEETS AT KENMORE

Gov. Pollard Will Lay Wreath on Monument to Mary Washington.

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., May 1.—Notables from many parts of the Nation will attend the annual meeting of the Kenmore Association here May 6 and 7, at Kenmore, stately brick mansion erected about the middle of the eighteenth century by Col. Fielding Lewis, first manufacturer of small arms for the American Revolutionary Army, for his wife, Betty Washington, sister of the first President.

Gov. John Garland Pollard will open the meeting at 5 o'clock in the afternoon of May 6, when he will lay a wreath on the monument marking the grave of Mary Washington, mother of George Washington and chatelaine of Kenmore. Visiting dignitaries and delegates will be given a reception on the monument ground immediately after the ceremony and will hear a tribute to Mary Washington read by Mrs. Charles Lea, regent for Pennsylvania.

Among others who have accepted invitations to attend are: Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom and their daughter, Representative S. Otis Bland, of Virginia; Dr. Charles Moore, member of the Fine Arts Commission, and Mrs. Fletcher Hobart, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

A session of the advisory council of State regents is scheduled to be held at Kenmore at 8 o'clock following the wreath-laying ceremonies.

May 7 will be taken up chiefly with discussions and reports from committees and regents. A bouffet luncheon for delegates and guests will follow the morning meeting, after which business will be resumed until adjournment late in the afternoon.

GOVERNMENT IS HIT FOR DEPORTATION

protest against this deportation and in particular methods employed," said the wire, signed by Chairman Harry Shirley, of the charity department of the city.

"First intimation woman received last Thursday, when told to be ready to go to Canada next day. Unable to sell her furniture, she was forced to give it away. Realized $1.50 on sale of stove, all the money she had in the world. Was told by woman official, believed to be connected with Detroit social welfare, furnished home would await her at Wallaceburg.

"This municipality was given no intimation of impending deportation, although it was understood that proceedings were started before her husband died.

"The deportation from our country of an American-born woman is a thing that outrages one's sense of justice," Mrs. Wiley said.

"No native-born American man could ever be deported because he had no money and no job. Yet lack of money does not nullify her American birth."

She pointed out that last winter Congress amended the law to provide that United States women who lost their citizenship by marriage could regain it almost overnight by appearing before a naturalization court and taking an oath of allegiance.

Apparently Mrs. Larsh was unable to take advantage of this change in the law, made after one United States-born woman, Ruth Bryan Owen, nearly lost her seat in Congress because her marriage to a British army officer nullified her eligibility. An opponent contesting her election argued that she had not been a citizen of this country for the seven years previous to election, as required by the Constitution.

Russia completes "at enormous sacrifices its five-year plan of productive facilities it will still be at the foot of all those nations with which 50 years ago it marched on equal terms."

Other high lights of the day's session were criticism by James C. Mr. Barnes proposed several definite actions which he declared business wants, including:

Confirmation by the Senate of the treaty for entry of the United States into the Court of International Justice to allay nationalistic apprehension and to lift military burdens from discouraged world industry.

Sale or lease of Muscle Shoals to private enterprise.

Denial of the use of Government money to compete with private business.

HEALTH OF CHILDREN CONCERNED BY FOOD

Whole Milk, Eggs and Fruits and Many Cuts of Meat Now Low in Price.

In connection with the observance of May Day as Child Health Day, the Bureau of Home Economics of the Department of Agriculture called the attention of the public to the importance of food in relation to the health of children.

The bureau has prepared several food guides to help safeguard nutrition of adults as well as children in times of stress. The work of the bureau in the matter of food for children has been greatly appreciated, as will be seen by the thousands of letters received asking special advice on feeding children. Some mothers come with particular dietary problems, but the majority of them want to know how they can spend their money to keep their children well.

This anxiety is not confined to persons of the lower income levels. Families who spend most for food are frequently getting the least for their money. Having the price to buy does not automatically safeguard nutrition, the bureau points out.

Food Guide Issued.

"Not all foods furnish an equal nutritional value for a given expenditure," says Mrs. Rowena Schmidt Carpenter, child specialist of the bureau. "For this reason the bureau developed the food guide and weekly market orders to fit the needs of families of different sizes. Growing children especially need foods that supply building materials. Milk contains efficient proteins for children, since it provides them with the various kinds that are very useful in making muscle. In addition to the foregoing reason for the large milk quota which we advise for children, milk is valuable for its vitamin and mineral content. Milk is especially important when incomes are reduced.

"In a restricted diet there is great likelihood of deficiencies in some of the very necessary materials which promote growth and development of children. For instance, calcium, phosphorus, and iron are three minerals very important in the diet of a growing child. They are not so abundant in all foods as are some of the other essential minerals so they need particular emphasis. Milk is the best source of calcium, and most fruits, vegetables, and meat as well as milk supply phosphorus. Iron is likely to be low unless the child eats egg yolk, green vegetables, prunes, and liver.

Milk in Variety.

"Whole milk may be consumed either fresh, evaporated or dried, and it is relatively inexpensive in all parts of the country. The same is true just now of eggs. Many cuts of meat are at present as low as 10 cents a pound and although calf liver is in the delicacy class, beef and pork liver offer similar nutritive value and are low in price. Unless wisely chosen fruits and vegetables are likely to be the most expensive food item each week.

"Children require foods that supply energy and this need is greater as children increase in size and weight and become more active. Fats, sugar and grain products supply more energy than most other foods. The information issued by the bureau suggests a balanced supply of these essentials on the basis of food groups. It also points out how to get the most from inexpensive foods." Mrs. Carpenter emphasizes that children need raw and quickly cooked vegetables.

Fortunately, people following the low cost food guide as well as those planning more elaborate diets can serve them to their families. The variety will not be quite so great when food money is limited, she points out, but the results can be the same in maintaining the well being of children.

Cabbage Is Inexpensive.

The choice of vegetables should be governed by the locality and season of the year, for cost is usually based on these two factors. Cabbage is inexpensive the year round and canned tomatoes serve practically the same purpose as the fresh variety, for they retain their vitamin content better than most vegetables when heated. They also are interchangeable with citrus fruits. Spinach and other greens are inexpensive at present and should be served frequently.

"We now permit children to have almost any food providing it is suitably selected and prepared," Mrs. Carpenter declares. "There are so very few 'Thou shalt nots' that we merely emphasize the method of preparation, giving preference to broiling, baking, steaming and boiling foods rather than to frying them. The better way to serve meals is to have the heavier protein dishes at noon rather than at night, since the children are sent to bed soon after the evening meal. If part of an evening dinner for the family is saved out for the children's noon meal, no extra foods need be bought."

For Family of Ten.

A family of ten, including three adults and seven children, should buy every week:

Bread, 25-35 pounds; flour, 3-5 pounds; cereal, 10-12 pounds; whole fresh milk, 43-56 quarts, or canned unsweetened milk, 43-56 tall cans; potatoes, 30-40 pounds; dried beans, peas, peanut butter, 2-5 pounds; tomatoes, fresh or canned, or citrus fruits, 12 pounds; other vegetables (including some of green or yellow color) and inexpensive fruits, 30-40 pounds; fats, such as lard, salt pork, bacon, margarin, butter, &c., 6 pounds; sugar and molasses, 7 pounds; lean meat, fish, cheese, eggs, 10-14 pounds; eggs (for children), 8 pounds.

ADVENTIST GROWTH TOLD BY SPEAKERS

Converted Ministry Is Held Needed by President of Conference.

Seventh-day Adventists last year raised $8,144,449 for evangelistic purposes in North America, H. E. Rogers, statistical secretary of the World Conference of the denomination, yesterday told leaders of the sect in convention in Takoma Park.

Mr. Rogers disclosed there are 2,227 Seventh-day Adventist churches in North America, with a membership of 120,560. Membership increased 2,729 over 1929. Last year the denomination collected $4,040,190 in tithe receipts alone for advancement of the church in North America, Mr. Rogers stated.

The Rev. C. H. Watson, president of the World's General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, commented on the growth of the denomination in the last half century in addressing the convention.

"There were but a handful of people in just one county of the earth 50 years ago, while today they are represented in all the world," he said. "Half a century ago the leaders were poor and almost without facilities, while today we speak of our assets by scores of millions of dollars."

The Rev. Mr. Watson made a plea for a "converted ministry." He said "the efficiency and power attending truly converted ministers would make the hypocrites in Zion tremble, and sinners afraid," adding, "The standard of truth is trailing in the dust."

President Watson declared there are "thousands of members of the church who are formal and superficial and satisfied, while thousands of others are longing to be led into better things."

Delegates present from all parts of North America, Europe and Asia were told they must admit "that the condition of our churches and the need of a more effective ministry constitute our two most serious problems."

The convention will continue in session until Thursday.

Here Is Protection for Perishable Foods

UNLESS your perishable foodstuffs are protected from the heated atmosphere, it's really shocking how quickly they lose their freshness. And, of course, there's always the danger of bacterial disease in foods not kept in a temperature of below 50 degrees.

The only way to really know about your food . . . to know it's pure and safe . . . is to avail yourself of the scientific protection of the Electric Refrigerator. It provides you with a year 'round, unvarying temperature of below 50 degrees which is the best assurance you can possibly have of food purity and food safety at all times.

THE CAR OF JUGGERNAUT
A HINDU DEITY KNOWN AS JUGGERNAUT IS HONORED AT A SHRINE IN INDIA BY A FESTIVAL EACH SUMMER, AT WHICH TIME A HEAVY VEHICLE BEARING HIS IDOL IS DRAWN THROUGH THE STREETS. FORMERLY, GREAT NUMBERS OF FANATICS USED TO CAST THEMSELVES UNDER ITS WHEELS, BELIEVING THAT SUCH A DEATH WOULD TRANSLATE THEM TO ETERNAL GLORY. HENCE, ANY METHOD OF CRUSHING OUT NUMEROUS LIVES IS NOW LIKENED TO THE CAR OF THE JUGGERNAUT.
SPATS
THE WORD "SPATS" IS AN ABBREVIATION OF "SPATTERDASHES." SPATTERDASHES WERE GAITERS WORN OVER TIGHT TROUSERS AND, AS "SPATTER" IMPLIES, WERE MEANT TO PROTECT THE LEGS FROM SPLASHES OF MUD IN WET WEATHER. WHEN FASHIONS CHANGED, THE SCOTS DESIGNED OUR PRESENT-DAY SPATS.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

THE CAUSE OF LAME SHOULDER.

THOSE who have lame shoulders should suspect that the trouble is in the supraspinatus tendon and its muscle or bursa. If a person falls and catches on his shoulder or throws his arm up and catches on that, he had better have the condition of this tendon investigated.

The muscle under discussion lies above the spine or bony ridge of the shoulder blade. It ends in a tendon which runs to the large arm bone in the shoulder joint. This tendon rests on a bursa which pads the bone. The muscle and tendon is one of a group that raise the arm up, for instance, in the position of the arms in brushing the hair. Let us amplify, then, and say if a woman or a man has pain or inconvenience in raising the hands to dress the hair, the supraspinatus muscle may be at fault.

This muscle, and particularly its tendon, are readily torn, and its bursa is apt to become inflamed. If a person in falling throws out his arm and tears this tendon the injury should be promptly repaired, otherwise he may have a lame shoulder for the remainder of his life. He may never be able to work again, or, what is more likely, he may need to change his work to something that does not interfere with his lame shoulder. Or he may shop around from doctor to doctor, always complaining, always uncomfortable, but having physicians give him a liniment after telling him they can find nothing much. The importance of supraspinatus injuries lies not in the immediate effects but in the long drawn out consequences.

A fracture of the arm bone will cause much more immediate trouble, but if the tendons are not torn the after effects are less than those of an injury to the supraspinatus. If, on the other hand, the injury is promptly repaired, there should be no after effects from trauma to this muscle, its tendon or bursa. If the injury should be overlooked and the persistence of lame shoulder arouses suspicion, surgical care may still be of service, say, for six years after the injury.

Dr. E. A. Codman has been studying injuries to the shoulder for many years. He has seen some of these supraspinatus injuries that have resulted in permanently laming. He has seen disease rather than injury have the same effect. Some cases have drawn compensation for years, dissatisfied themselves and causing dissatisfaction to employers. He has seen cases haunt doctors' offices for years, a nuisance to themselves and doctors, and then he has seen the other picture.

HAVE PHYSICIAN EXAMINE.

P. F. writes: For over a week I have had bleeding from the left side of my nose. Will you tell me the reason?

REPLY.

You should have your physician look for an eroding blood vessel, an ulcer or a tumor of some sort.

NO OPERATION NEEDED.

A. B. writes:

1. A young man in his mid-twenties lisps. This is quite a handicap to him. Is it possible to have it corrected?
2. Is lisping caused by tongue-tie? If so, what can be done
3. Can this be corrected by an operation?
4. Is such an operation painful?

REPLY.

1. Yes.
2. No.
3. No.
4. No operation is required. Lisping is due to a faulty method of using the tongue and lips. The method of cure consists in learning the right method and unlearning the wrong.

RED SOX POUND CROWDER OUT IN FIRST IN 10-4 VICTORY;

DRAIN DEFEATS M'CALLUM IN WASHINGTON GOLF FINALS

Youth Victor, 4and2, Over Medalist

3 Successive Birdies on Final Holes Win for Drain.

McCallum Gets Poor Start; Consolation to Stevinson.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

BEGINNING as a comedy and ending in a blaze of glory, the final round of the spring tournament of the Washington Golf and Country Club yesterday, which resulted in a victory for 20-year-old James G. Drain by a score of 4 and 2 over Walter B. McCallum, both members of the home club, gave the large gallery which followed the match a series of real thrills.

When the contest began it threatened to resemble nearly all final rounds as an exhibition of indifferent golf. Drain, who had the honor, played a fine tee shot toward the green, 300 yards away, and then McCallum, with a combination of hooked drive and a cross wind, sent three balls consecutively out of bounds. "Let's play the next hole, Jim," he said, while the caddies went over into the adjoining property to retrive the trio of balls. Then, after the second hole had been halved in par, McCallum sliced his drive into the ditch and was two down. He was still one down at the turn.

McCallum Gains Honor.

In the meantime, however, much had happened. McCallum won the honor for the first time when, on the fifth green, he ran down a long putt for a birdie 3. Drain's putting was his salvation. He ran down a lengthy putt on the second to get a half, on the fourth to secure a birdie 4 and hold his own against McCallum, on the eighth when he secured a 4 for a half after playing his approach shot into a trap, and on the ninth when his putter again saved him after he had overdriven the green.

The only time his putter failed him was on the seventh, when he took three putts from a distance of not more than 15 feet. This hole should have won, for McCallum hooked his second shot far over the green and chipped back in weak fashion. In fact, McCallum's chip shots were not played with his accustomed skill, and more than once he left himself a putt too long to be successfully negotiated.

On the outward nine, however, he played two fine shots, a spoon to reach the fourth green with his second and a brassy out of the woods on the eighth which carried to the edge of the green, over 200 yards away.

Match Squared On Eleventh.

After the tenth hole had been played in one over par by both contestants, McCallum overapproaching the green and Drain failing to be home in 2, the match was evened when McCallum, with a high niblick shot, laid his ball on the eleventh green, while Drain's ball carried to the hillside beyond. McCallum should have won the twelfth hole, but three strokes from the edge of the green only gave him a half in 5.

Then the fireworks began. Drain closing the match by playing the next four holes in a par followed by three consecutive birdies. On the thirteenth, both players pulled their tee shots far to the left, coming to rest near the fifteenth green. Drain, playing a high shot over the trees, landed his ball on the green, but McCallum's second shot hit the hillside and rolled back. He ended with a 5, Drain scoring a par with two putts. The fourteenth has a distance of 234 yards, but Drain not only carried the green, but laid his ball so close to the cup that McCallum, after missing a putt of 30 feet, conceded his opponent a birdie 2.

Drain Makes Another Birdie.

The fifteenth saw another birdie for Drain and in fact his third shot almost tumbled into the cup for an eagle. McCallum, closer to the green, again played a weak approach and although his ball hit the cup for a 4 it did not drop and he became 3 down. The sixteenth hole was the final chapter. McCallum tried for a

Chicago, May 1 (A.P.).—Vic Frasier's right arm and bat today gave the White Sox an 8 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

The Texas recruit held the Browns to nine well-spaced hits and his double with the bases full in the sixth inning was the big punch in a seven-run rally. The victory was the Sox's fourth straight and raised them to third place in the American League standing.

YANKS HELD TO 3 HITS BY EARNSHAW

PHILADELPHIA, May 1 (A.P.).—George Earnshaw showed a flash of his 1930 world series form today as he held the New York Yankees to three hits, while the Athletics were pounding George Pipgras for a 4-to-0 triumph. The victory was Earnshaw's first of the season.

Earnshaw allowed only one hit, a single by Lazzeri in the second inning, until the ninth, when Combs and Reese cracked out a pair of singles. George Haas and Mickey Cochrane backed Earnshaw's brilliant pitching performance with home runs.

Bozek Steals Home to Win, 2-1, for G. U. Over West Va.

By JACK ESPEY.

DEFENSIVE blunders by the opposition, coupled with daring base running by Johnny Evers, jr., and Johnny Bozek, enabled Georgetown to come from behind in the eighth inning to score two runs and defeat its old rival, West Virginia, 2 to 1, yesterday on Hilltop Field.

In a way it was thievery, for the Mountaineer pitcher, Bill Foster, had yielded only one hit in the previous seven innings, and was showing no signs of weakening as far as granting liberties with his curves was concerned.

But Foster contributed to his downfall by committing a balk that sent Evers to third base, from which the son of the famous major leaguer of yesteryear scored with the tying run on an error by Staub, visiting second baseman. Evers had opened the inning with a single and had stolen second.

Staub's error gave Bozek life, following which Weiner, West Virginia catcher, let a pitch get away from him, sending Bozek to second.

With two out and Walter Morris at bat with two strikes, Bozek pilfered third base and then promptly

Sharkey Wins Title Label For Bout

New York Body Votes Recognition for Carnera Fight.

Bostonian, in Personal Appeal, Cites Worthy Foe.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, May 1 (A.P.).—Jack Sharkey, Boston's emotional heavyweight, marched into the offices of the New York State Athletic Commission today, struck himself a pose, delivered an argument, and marched out again, triumphantly bearing the right to fight for the world's heavyweight crown when he tackles Primo Carnera at Ebbets Field June 10.

Before the fight can take place, of course, Sharkey must withstand, along with Carnera and Jimmie Johnston, promoter of the show, the injunction Madison Square Garden has filed in Federal court asking that the entire business be declared null and void, but for the time being Sharkey has won the first argument. He clearly showed the commission it had made him definite promises, asked the fathers to stand by them and convinced them they should.

Reminds Commission Of Resolutions.

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Sharkey, totally unseconded and looking exactly like a lawyer presenting his case at the bar, "on September 19, 1930, and again on January 6, 1931, this commission adopted resolutions declaring that it would recognize a bout between myself and any suitable opponent for the heavyweight championship of the world if Max Schmeling persisted in refusing to give me a return match. I have been matched to meet Primo Carnera, a worthy opponent, on June 10. I respectfully submit that this contest should be considered as for the heavyweight championship."

Moved by the logic of Sharkey's plea, the commission promptly adopted a resolution admitting the truth of the barrister-heavyweight's argument and declared the forthcoming struggle as a heavyweight title affair as far as the commission is concerned. Previously the solemn fathers had taken no action because, they said, no one had asked them to.

Injunction Hearing Next Week.

In the meantime the Madison Square Garden injunction, asking that Carnera be restrained from participating in any match until he fulfills a contract to meet the winner of the Max Schmeling-Young Stribling fight in Cleveland July 3, was under consideration in Federal court here. No action is expected in this sector until early next week.

FISCHER DUE FOR DEBUT TODAY

Marberry Also Will Pitch in Double Bill at Boston.

Special to The Washington Post.

BOSTON, Mass., May 1.—Weather permitting, the series with the Red Sox will end here tomorrow with the Nats participating in their first double-header of the season, a bargain day bill being offered because of Thursday's postponement. Manager Walter Johnson plans to use Carl Fischer and Fred Marberry on the mound.

Fischer will be making his season's debut as a starter, having earned a chance at a regular berth by four exceptional relief shifts, during one of which he equaled Left Grove's season's strike-out record, fanning ten Yankees last Sunday, while in another he came right back at the New Yorkers and held them hitless in five frames, all extra innings in Tuesday's hectic fourteen-inning tie.

Manager John (Shano) Collins is expected to call on Milton Gaston, former Nat, and Danny McFayden.

Outfielder Sam West's injured ankle was pronounced fit today so he went to his regular place in center, with Harry Rice, who has been hitting so well that Johnson has no idea of benching him, being shifted to right.

Five postponed games in a row, four with the Mackmen and one with the Nats, created a record in this respect here for both major leagues.

Lloyd Brown, scheduled to pitch against the Mackmen in Sunday's game in Washington, left for the Capital City tonight to rest up for this effort. The Nationals hustle back home after tomorrow's games and leave again to open a set in New York on Monday before making their first trek through the West.

Rhyne made a fine play to rob Judge of a hit and the Nats of a run ending the first, racing over almost to the second sack to make a good grab and a fine peg to the initial sack.

It was ladies day here this afternoon and quite a number of the "fair" fans turned out.

Russell had two strikes on Bluege, first up in the second, and then walked him on four successive bad ones. This helped none, though, for Spencer then hit into a double play.

Van Camp made a great try for Cronin's double, which scored Myer in the third. He fell while chasing up the incline guarding the fence and narrowly missed grabbing the drive with his gloved hand as he was going down. When the return peg got by Rhyne, Cronin tried to carry on to third, but Russell retrieved the ball in time to make the out at third.

Spencer muffed Oliver's easy foul in the Sox third, and, in appreciation of this extension of batting life, the home fly chaser immediately doubled to left center.

A foul from Sweeney's bat hit Catcher Spencer on the right knee in the second round and temporarily stopped play. Roy remained in the game for a while, but finally gave way to Cliff Bolton starting the home fourth. The injury is not serious and the catcher probably will be back to the Baltimore Club, where Joe Kuhel, Judge's first base understudy, has been on a loan since last Sunday. At a result, Kuhel is on his way here and he will be in the lineup in tomorrow's double-header with the Red Sox.

Kuhel Called To Replace Judge

Until two or three days ago, Judge had not mentioned feeling badly and, as far as he knew, his appendix was in normal condition. Just before entraining for Boston, however, he complained to Trainer Mike Martin of dull pains on his right side and it was thought that, perhaps, he merely was suffering from indigestion or some other stomach disorder.

As today's game started, the first-sacker was feeling well and it was not until the fifth inning, when he and Burke collaborated in retiring Bob Reeves for the final out, that the pain bemace acute.

Baxter Jordan hit for Judge, starting the home sixth and finished out the game while Judge consulted the Boston Club's physician. The latter, although not certain, diagnosed the trouble as appendicitis, and the player was rushed to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital for observation.

If this business of hard luck for the nationals here keeps up, they probably will make an effort to have the Boston Club "waived out" of the league, for it was here last year that Outfielder Heinie Manush suffered his leg injury, which did as much as anything else to eliminate the Washington Club from the pennant race. At the time, last July, the Nats were leading the league, and their victory in the first game of the double-header played that day was their tenth in a row. Then Manush was injured and was lost to the team for six weeks, and far from normal for several more, and the Johnsons dropped out of contention, although still maintaining sufficient power to finish in the runner-up berth by a goodly margin.

DARK MAGNET SCORES LUCKY WIN IN PIMLICO OAKS

Scuttle Victim Of 4 Pockets In Stake

Closes Fast But Loses $3,000 Purse to Kilmer Filly.

Red Ronald and Mad Career Win for Long-Shot Players.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., May 1—Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Dark Magnet, 3-year-old bay daughter of Traumer—Sun Magnet, will have her name inscribed in the record books as the winner of the thirteenth running of the Pimlico Oaks, but the best filly in the event was A. C. Bostwick's Scuttle, who was second in the 1 1-16 mile struggle.

The event, which was witnessed by Vice President Curtis and 15,000 spectators, saw Scuttle run into four pockets in the first half mile, but, once clear in the home stretch, literally flew to miss taking the purse by a half length.

Dark Magnet was away in the lead and was taken in behind Peach Basket for a half mile. Robertson took the ultimate winner on top at the half-mile pole to open a long lead. This break enabled her to outlast Scuttle, who was going fastest of all at the end.

Third money went to S. W. Labrot's Anne Arundel. The latter held up the start, due to bad acting, and had to be placed outside the stalls before a start could be effected.

Dark Magnet's score enriched Owner Kilmer to the extent of $2,970, while those folks who wagered on her drew down $4.90 for every $2 invested.

Curtis Sees Dark Seeker Win Under Workman.

Vice President Curtis was included in the throng of 15,000 that saw Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Dark Seeker race a half, hard held in 0:48, to win the Calvert, the day's opening event.

When the field of twelve broke, Sonny Workman took Dark Seeker to the top and she had such a long lead over her field as she swung for home that Workman took her in hand.

As she passed under the imaginary wire, Dark Seeker was well in advance of T. McClements' Society Talk, with J. E. Widener's Fairest leading the remainder of the field.

Red Ronald Pays $60.30 In Winning Third.

The Forest Park, a 6-furlong sprint, saw a decided upset when H. Teller Archibald's Red Ronald, paying $60.30, easily bested J. P. McGovern's Hacky H., the favorite, with the Seagram Stable's Sun Craig third.

Guerra shot Red Ronald on top at the break and although Hacky H. went right along with him, the ultimate winner drew away in the home stretch to win as his rider pleased.

Mad Career Scores In Upset in Fourth.

The Harford, a 6-furlong sprint, found Walter J. Salmon's Mad Career, 3-year-old bay son of Mad Hatter—Ciculta, racing a mile and 70 yards in 1:43 4-5, to pay $44.50.

Eddie Watters kept Mad Career right on top of the pace for a half-mile, where he went to the front. He was joined by the Four Oaks Farm's Sister Zoe in the home stretch and just lasted to win by a head. Third money went to the Seagram Stable's Chatty.

Hillsborough, the odds-on favorite, ran a disgraceful race, to be fourth.

$50,000 OFFER FOR MATE IS REFUSED

Bostwick Rejects Bid of Kilmer for Derby, Preakness Hope.

Special to The Washington Post.

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., May 1.—A. C. Bostwick, of New York, this morning turned down an offer of $50,000 for Mate, his Preakness and Kentucky Derby candidate, who reeled off a mile in 1:39 3-5 and finished out the extra eighth in 1:35 2-5.

The offer was made by Andy Schuttinger on behalf of his contract employer, Willis Sharpe Kilmer.

In declining the offer, Owner Bostwick said "no one can buy a good thoroughbred, these days. I certainly hope Mate is good enough to win either the Preakness or Derby. Even if he doesn't there is not enough money in circulation to make me part with him."

Trainer Freddie Hopkins announced this morning that he would give Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's Equipoise, a public mile and one-eighth trial between races on next Wednesday.

This public trial is being staged to prove to race fans that the son of Pennant and Swinging has entirely recovered from the sickness that overtook him at Havre de Grace.

Secretary-General Manager Matthias L. Daiger announced late today that he thought the following field would make up the $50,000 Preakness field here on Saturday, May 9.

Dark Hero, Hillsborough, Sir Ashley, Mate, Gigantic, Alnahton, Fleet Flag, Happy Scot, Anchors Aweigh, Surf Board, Twenty Grand, Sun Meadow, Aegis, Sunny Lassie, Siskin, Rip Van Winkle, Back Gammon, War Ladder, Soil Gills, Equipoise, Rideaway, Levante and Ilium.

BUSINESS HIGH ROUTS WESTERN, 23-9

School Game Sees 10 Runs In 7th

3 Western Pitchers Yield 25 Hits in Loose Battle.

Stenogs Trail Until 6th, 9-8; Duryee Is Winning Hurler.

IN a game which was wretchedly played, even from a high school standard, Business High batted its way into a .500 standing in the high school series race yesterday afternoon at Eastern Field, using as a stepping stone Western High, which succumbed by the score 23 to 9. The dreary spectacle attracted a gallery of 49, including members of the working press.

Business was credited with 25 hits of the faltering Western pitching staff of Clark, Grimm and Poore. At least ten of those hits were dangerously close to being called errors. Bill Duryee, Business' all-round athlete, permitted only six hits during his eight-inning stay in the box.

Duryee's mound work was not as brilliant as was Western's hitting inadequate. Duryee gave nine walks, while Western's three pitchers managed to send eight down to first without the formality of a hit.

Ten Runs in Seventh Clinch Game.

A farcical seventh inning, during whose hectic span Business scored 10 runs, spiked the issue. For the first six innings it was either team's game, Western taking a one-run lead, 9-8, in the fifth and holding it a full inning.

The seventh inning saw raps go around once and a half. If it had any redeeming factors it was the hitting of Fratantuono, all-high outfielder, who lined a single over second base in his first trip and tripled to the right center fence the next time.

Georgetown Golfers Beaten by Princeton

Special to The Washington Post.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 1.—Georgetown's golf stars became Princeton's second victim in the intercollegiate golf matches played here today, the Hilltoppers taking a 5—4 defeat from the Tigers at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club after Princeton had defeated Penn, 7—2, in the morning.

It was in the third foursome that the Washington linksmen made their greatest showing, Joe De Stefano and Lou Fisher accounting for all three points from Gordon and Wright.

Georgetown's golfers today swing their clubs against the University of Pennsylvania Team in their second Eastern Intercollegiate League match on the course of the Manfacturers' Club, near Philadelphia.

Crowd Gathers at Warrenton For Today's Gold Cup Race

WARRENTON, Va., May 1 (A.P.).—Twelve horses, among the best jumpers in the East, today were entered in the tenth annual Virginia Gold Cup classic to be run here tomorrow afternoon.

Many of the hundreds of persons expected here for the event tomorrow had arrived today, and others were expected during the night and early tomorrow.

The horses entered are: Soissons, owned by Flying Horse Farm (Sumner Pingree) and ridden by Jack Skinner; Bulgold, owned by Mrs. H. R. Bishop, and ridden by Mr. Bishop; Seraglio and Hennegouwen, owned by Mrs. John Hay Whitney, with William B. Street named as the rider (only one was expected to start); Drummer Boy and Rackateer, owned by Mrs. T. H. Somerville, with Noel Lang named as the rider of one, possibly Drummer Boy, formerly the property of Baldwin Spilman; Menelaus, Rolling Plains Stable, with Crawford Burton, the rider; Primero, T. H. Symington, owner, and B. Bond, the rider.

Wine Hill Stables Enters So Dear.

So Dear is entered by the Wine Hill Stables, with Harry Duffey, jr., up. George Sloane has entered Skyscraper; Sunset, with Thomas Waller in the saddle, owned by Harry B. Kirkover, is another entry, and Red Indian, owned and to be ridden by Jack Skibber, is the twelfth entry. It is probable that the Middleburg rider will be seen on Soissons, however. It was on this big brown gelding that he raced to victory here last spring, and last week he piloted Soissons to a win at the Maryland cup race.

This horse now stands as the outstanding favorite with the sporting fraternity, although Skyscraper and Bulgold are well liked. Drummer Boy, who knows the course, has not been forgotten.

Two other races will follow the Gold Cup race later in the afternoon on Clovelly Farm, the property of Robert Winmill. The course is just across the road from Elway Hall, the property of Baldwin Spilman, where the Gold Cup will be run.

Gold Cup to Start At 3:30 P. M.

The Gold Cup race, over four miles of rolling country with eighteen stiff fences, is scheduled to start at 3:30 o'clock. At 4 o'clock there will be the Warrenton Hunt race, a 2½-mile race, will be run with twelve horses also entered.

At 4:30 the Canterbury Cup race will follow over a 2½-mile course with brush. There are fifteen entries in this race.

Officials will be John E. Cowdin, George H. Bull and A. S. Craven, stewards; W. C. Langley, William Mitchell, Fletcher Harper and W. P. Hulbert, judges; George Sloane, R. J. Kirkpatrick, Frederick F. Alexander, Richard Wallach, Arthur White and E. Tunnicliff Fox, patrol judges. W. H. Pool will be Paddock judge, and J. W. Slaughter and W. W. Gulick will be clerks of the scales. Baldwin D. Spilman, jr., will be clerk of course, and James C. Hamilton and William Skinker will be starters.

Mrs. Hitt Won First Cup.

The Gold Cup is run under the rules of the National Steeplechase and and Hunt Association. This is the second cup offered by the Virginia Gold Cup Association. It must be won three times by the same owner to become his or her permanent property. In 1925 Mrs. Katherine Hitt, of Middleburg, took permanent possession of the first cup when her John Bunny romped home a winner after her Irish Laddie and her Oddity had taken two legs on it in the first two years of the race, 1922 and 1923.

Mr. Pingree is the only owner to start a horse Saturday, who has already tasted victory in the Gold Cup race.

The famous Billy Barton, Howard Bruce's jumper, who lost the Grand National by a whisker, was the best known of the nine winners of the Virginia Gold Cup. He won in 1926.

The attendance here last year was estimated at 8,000.

Allison and Shields Bring U. S. 2-0 Lead Over Mexico

MEXICO CITY, May 1 (A.P.).—With the President of Mexico, the American Ambassador and 3,000 other persons looking on, the United States Davis Cup youngsters today won their first two matches from Mexico in the first round play in the North American zone.

Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., veteran Davis Cup doubles player and singles finalist at Wimbledon last year, defeated Alfonso Unda, 6—3, 6—1, 6—3, in the first match, and young Frank X. Shields, of New York, then defeated Mexico's ace, Ricardo Tapia, 6—4, 6—4, 6—2.

Shields and Tapia, the American youngster towering almost a foot over his small, fragile-appearing adversary, provided most of the drama of the day.

The skillful little Mexican, playing from deep back court, kept the American youngster on the run and piled up a lead of 3 to 1 in each of the first two sets. Each time, when danger threatened, Shields went to the net to smash out a victory.

President Ortiz Rubio and Ambassador Joshua Reuben Clark, jr., were prominent among the crowd viewing the match.

Tomorrow the two squads will rest, resuming play Sunday with Shields and young Sidney B. Wood, jr., University of Arizona student, meeting Tapia and a player yet to be named in a doubles match. The final two singles matches will be played Tuesday.

Maryland Cub Pitcher Blanks Central, 9-0

Steve Physioc pitched the University of Maryland freshmen to their sixth straight win when they defeated Central High, of Washington, 9 to 0 yesterday afternono at College Park. It was the Old Line Cubs' third victory over a Washington public high school team.

Physioc had Central at his mercy all the way, limiting the scholastics to four hits, only one of which was a clean-cut bingle. He fanned twelve. Physioc also wielded a big bat, pounding out a triple and a single.

De Bettencourt, Central's starting pitcher, was blasted from the mound in the fourth when the freshmen chalked up two runs after scoring four in the third. Their other three tallies came in the eighth off Myers.

Chase and Buscher were other leaders on attack for Maryland aside from Physioc. One of Chase's bingles was good for two bases.

Randolph-Macon 5-4 Victim of Shenandoah

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., May 1.—Ergenbright's double in the ninth today gave Shenandoah College a 5 to 4 victory over Randolph-Macon College and enabled Jackie Glenn to best Fess Woodson in a fine mound duel. Trader and Woodson hit home runs for the Ashland Yellow Jackets. Barlett's double in the seventh, which registered two runners, enabled Shenandoah to knot the count at 4-all. Woodson limited the Hornets to six hits. His wildness paved the way for three runs, however. Randolph-Macon plays at nearby Bridgewater College tomorrow.

C. U. Meets Hopkins In Dual Meet Today

Coach Dorsey Griffith will take his Catholic University track and field squad to Baltimore today for their annual meet with Johns Hopkins.

Benefited from two weeks of intensive practice, the Cardinals hope to score their first victory of the outdoor season. They dropped a decision recently to Maryland, but only after a close battle which was decided late in the day, when Maryland came through strong in the field events.

Lenoir Rhyne Routed By Marine Nine, 19-8

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., May 1.—Lenoir Rhyne College fell before the Marines baseball team here today by the score of 19 to 8. After Freeny, Marine first sacker, poled a homer with two on in the first and drove in two runs ahead of him it was just another merry-go-round for the Sea Soldiers.

Sullivan, with five straight hits for a total of ten bases, led the Marine attack and fielded brilliantly as well.

Hyattsville High Wins Over Maryland Park

Francis Peffer's pitching was largely responsible for Hyattsville High's 5-1 victory over Maryland Park here this afternoon in a game that gave the former title honors for the northern section of Prince Georges County. Peffer was an enigma to the Parkers from the outset, and after the first inning they got not a single runner past second base.

Peffer gave up only seven hits, struck out eleven and walked none. Errors handicapped Lee Suit, Maryland Park pitcher, who, on the whole, did fairly well.

Hyattsville scored three runs in the first to take the lead, which it held.

Washington-Lee Nine Routs Emerson, 10-7

In a game marred by frequent errors by the players of both teams, Washington and Lee High defeated Emerson Institute by a 10-7 score on the Ballston diamond yesterday. Rosenberger and Seymour held the losers to five hits, while their teammates were slamming Draper and Sicklin for ten safeties to bag the verdict. The game was called in the seventh inning by previous agreement.

Woodward Triumphs Over Devitt Nine, 4-1

With DeMott hurling airtight ball, the Woodward School auspiciously inaugurated its 1931 diamond campaign by downing the Devitt Prep nine in an abbreviated seven inning contest on the Monument grounds yesterday. The final score was 4-1. DeMott had the "Injun sign" on his opponents, granting them only two hits, while retiring twelve on strikeouts. Childress and Rousseau, Devitt moundsmen, were also stingy with their hits, the Woodward batsmen getting only five bingles. These were bunched at opportune moments, however, especially in the fifth, when a trio of runners crossed the platter. Hill registered the only extra base blow of the game, a double to center.

Singles—Nicholson (D.) defeated Boyle, 6—3, 3—6, 6—2; Willis (D.) defeated Austin, 6—0, 7—5; Dabney (D.) defeated Robertson, 6—2, 6—3. Doubles—Nicholson and Dabney defeated Boyle and Austin, 6—4, 9—7; Willis and Hughes defeated Clark and Robertson, 6—4, 6—0.

Old Dominion Title To Richmond Golfer

Hot Springs, Va., May 1 (A.P.).—Billy Howell, young Richmonder, who is a student at Washington and Lee University, today added the Old Dominion championship to his list of sectional golf titles. He defeated E. H. Bobbitt, of Hot Springs, 8 and 7 in their 36 holes final match over the Cascades course.

Yesterday Howell qualified for the finals by defeating T. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion.

Drizzling rain, which fell throughout the match, did not prevent Howell from displaying today the brand of golf which last year won him the Middle States title.

Long Shot Disqualified In Feature at Aurora

Aurora, Ill., May 1 (A.P.).—A disqualification gave Stuyvesant Peabody's T. S. Jordan victory in the Inaugural Handicap, feature event of the opening program of Chicago's racing season at the Aurora track.

Gold Step, an outsider in the betting, flashed home first, but Jockey A. Richard, on T. S. Jordan, protested that Jockey Pendergass, Gold Step's pilot, had fouled him in the stretch. The stewards disqualified Gold Step and suspended Pendergass for rough riding. T. S. Jordan paid $14.90 to win, $8.02 for place and $5.06 to show.

Celtic Prince was second and Princeton was third.

The crowd, estimated at more than 15,000, was one of the biggest opening day attendances in the history of the track.

was off on a steal for home. He arrived safely in a grand slide under Catcher Weiner.

Herb Heaney, a sophomore, carried on the pitching battle for Georgetown until he had disposed of the invaders in the eighth. Hal Poole was sent in to pinch hit for him in the home half of the eighth and then to hurl the last inning. Poole staved off a West Virginia rally that had runners on first and third by fanning Haddad for the final out.

Heaney allowed only three hits, one of the scratch variety. He was scored on in the fifth when Jones beat out a hit to short, went to third on an error by King, and completed the trip on a wild pitch.

Grid Drills at Hilltop And C. U. End Today

Spring football practice at Georgetown and Catholic universities will be concluded today with the players of Catholic staging an intrasquad game in Brookland Stadium beginning at 2:30 o'clock. Lack of playing space prevents the Georgetowners from doing the same.

Bert Metzger, Notre Dame's 1930 all-American guard, finishes his temporary service with Catholic U. as assistant coach with today's final practice. Having graduated from Notre Dame, Metzger intends entering the business of his father in Chicago within the next few days. He has turned a deaf ear to coaching offers.

in action tomorrow. Cliff Bolton thus was given his first opportunity to play in a major league game behind the bat.

Russell was given an assist and a put out on the same play, ending the Nats' fifth. He fumbled Harry Rice's tap near first, and, seeing Sweeney was right behind him, covered the bag and took the first sacker's toss to make the out on a close decision.

Sweeney showed speed of foot when he beat out a nifty bunt opening the "lucky" frame for the natives. Bluge handled the ball cleanly and pegged speedily, but the runner was safe by a whisker.

The home seventh was the second frame of the game in which the Red Sox batted around, nine coming up in this round, while ten were up in the opening session.

dead, successive clean singles by Manush, Cronin and West gave the Johnsons a one-run lead in the first and the first three Red Sox up in their half pounded two alien runs home, Rhyne, Sweeney and Van Camp each doubling in rapid order. Then came a fielder's choice, two more singles and a walk before Johnson walked Crowder and another pass by Burke before he could get properly warmed up.

With the exception of their two other scoring frames, Russell had no trouble whatsoever in disposing of the Washington batters. They scored their second run in the third on a pass and Cronin's double and their other two in the ninth on West's opening two-bagger. Bluege's single, Bolton's out on which Bluege took second, and pinch-hitter "Pinky" Hargrave's one-base drive to right, which cleared the sacks.

STOCKS LOSE GAINS IN RUSH OF SELLING

Steel Leads Plunge From 121 to 113½; Day's Total Sales 2,900,000 Shares.

New York, May 1 (A.P.).—Stocks stumbled into an air pocket in the last hour of trading today, and lost a substantial part of the Thursday rally.

Some issues, U. S. Steel among them, more than dropped their gains of the previous session, and went to new lows for the bear market.

Until mid-afternoon the list had given a reasonably good account of itself, rising 1 to 4 points in a quiet extension of the advance. Perhaps the absence of aggressive covering told the bears they had little to fear from a further squeeze. Whatever the reason, a selling movement that started slowly picked up momentum toward the close and became a scramble to dump stocks in the last fifteen minutes. The average net decline was 3.5 points against yesterday's rise of 5.7. Sales totaled 2,900,000 shares, of which 900,000 represented transactions in the final 50 minutes.

Steel Takes Plunge.

U. S. Steel, which sold up a point, to 121, in the rally, plunged to 113½, the lowest since 1927, and closed at 114¼, off 5¾. New York Central flopped to 94¾, also a new low, finishing at 95½, for a net loss of 3¾. Auburn turned a gain of 14½ into a decline of 28. Bethlehem, after rallying 3 in response to smaller dividend cut than had been anticipated, closed 2 points lower.

Union Carbide, Columbian Carbon, Case and Westinghouse dropped ¾ or more, and there were losses of 2 to 3 in American Can, American Telephone, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, Anaconda, Consolidated Gas, Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison and Union Pacific.

Cotton, however, broke widely, July selling more than $2 a bale under the high of the morning. Futures closed $1.20 to $1.50 a bale lower. Wheat held steady, but corn was heavy, losing ¾ to 2½. The extreme decline was in the December position.

Trade Reviews Discouraged.

The trade reviews seemed somewhat discouraged by the drag of weak speculative markets on sentiment. Rains and cold weather, said Bradstreet's, have retarded buying, adding that declines in stocks had been reflected in an irregular easing of commodity prices. Dun's reported that some moderately encouraging trends were overshadowed by the negative features, although it found favorable long-term features, notably the reduction in inventories and a balance between production and consumption.

Comment in copper circles is not particularly cheerful. Current quotations at 9⅜ to 9½ cents are regarded as nominal, since consumers are holding off. April statistics may show a gain in stocks of refined metal. There was little news from the oils, except that standards of New Jersey and New York declared their usual dividends; however, these actions were not taken as evidence of an immediate change in that industry's fortunes.

European exchanges were uniformly easy, with losses nominal. It was a holiday in the South American countries.

BOND PRICES HIGHER WITH RAILS LEADING

European Buying Orders Again Feature Market; Foreign Issues Make Gains.

New York, May 1 (A.P.).—The bond market reached higher levels today, especially in the second grade rail issues.

There was no outstanding favorable news to explain the reversal of trend, but it was evident that the liquidating sales were of smaller proportions. A moderate amount of buying orders from Europe, a factor which has not been present in appreciable volume for some time, were reported. Trading was vigorous during the first hour, but activity slackened thereafter and the total sales amounted to $10,646,500. A declining tendency appeared in the late trading with the slump in stocks, but it did not go far enough to wipe out all the gains.

Marked activity and net gains in such issues as Chicago Great Western 4s, Rock Island refunding 4s of 1934, Erie refunding and improvement 5s of 1967 and of 1975 and New Haven refunding 4½s demonstrated the change in the temper of the market. St. Louis-San Francisco 4½s of 1978 and Missouri Pacific series I 5s were two of the most active issues of the whole list and made good gains, which proved temporary. Gilt edge rails were firm to higher.

Foreign bonds moved upward also. Sharp and mixed changes appeared in Brazilian issues. The 7s of 1952 and both issues of 6½s of the Federal Government dropped sharply in heavy selling, but the 8s of 1941 jumped 4 points in equally heavy trading. Bonds of the state of Sao Paulo advanced on a few sales. Medellin 6½s were more active than usual and advanced 9 points. Montevideo 6s jumped 10 points. Gains in most other foreign issues were of a more normal character.

Loans of the United States Government were firm on a moderate volume.

The advance in public utility and industrial bonds was not so marked as in the rails.

5 HURT AS TROLLEY AND TRUCK COLLIDE

None Is Seriously Injured as Street Car Crashes Into Prison Car.

Five persons were injured yesterday in a collision between a street car and a Lorton Reformatory truck at First and D streets northwest. None was injured seriously.

The street car, operated by Dexter G. Brady, 30 years old, of 1536 A street northeast, was going west on D street when it struck the truck going south on I street, driven by Ray C. Noble, 23 years old, a prisoner at Lorton.

Brady, taken to Casualty Hospital, was treated for abrasions of the forehead and a possible fracture of the pelvis. Mrs. R. V. Flogg, 72 years old, of 1349 C street southeast, was treated for shock. Henry Thomas, colored, 28 years old, a prisoner at the District jail, and a passenger on the truck, was treated at Emergency Hospital for cuts on the head and was returned to the jail.

John A. Francis, 68 years old, of Cherrydale, Va., was cut on the hands but refused hospital treatment. Sarah F. Minkins, colored, 25 years old, a passenger on the street car, who lives at 15 Ninth street northeast, received leg injuries, but refused hospital treatment.

Tile pipe fell from the truck and damaged an automobile owned by F. A. Mosso, of the Columbia Medical Building.

Noble, the driver of the truck, had no District permit, police say.

Baltimore Banker Convicted in Crash

James I. Smith Is Held to Have Falsified Records; Freed on Bond.

Baltimore, Md., May 1 (A.P.).—James I. Smith, former branch manager of the defunct Chesapeake Bank, was found guilty today by a criminal court jury of falsification of bank records and misstatements to bank examiners. Sentence will be passed later and he was freed meanwhile on $10,000 bond.

Smith was second to be convicted in connection with the closing December 9 of the bank, which had resources of more than $5,000,000, and State's Attorney Herbert R. O'Conor told the jury today "the end is not yet" in the investigation.

A vice president, Milton B. Delcher, is under sentence of five years in jail following his conviction of fraud and peculations totaling more than $30,000. He has appealed.

Smith and a depositor in his branch are under joint indictment also charging conspiracy to defraud the bank of $40,000. Testimony was given at Smith's trial that the depositor had given 86 notes to the bank in five years and had numerous overdrafts. At Delcher's trial attorneys estimated depositors would lose $1,700,000.

HEARING IS PLANNED IN POWER-RATE ROW

Utilities Commission Will Fight for Abrogation of Consent Decree.

Culminating numerous conferences and several postponements, the Public Utilities Commission yesterday responded to the challenge of the Potomac Electric Power Co. and announced its intention of holding a public hearing as the first step in abrogating the consent decree, establishing a new sliding scale and ordering a lower schedule of rates for electricity users in Washington.

Announcement of the commission's decision was made by Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman, following a conference of the commission, Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, his special assistant, William A. Roberts, and People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech.

While Gen. Patrick's announcement focused attention on the sliding scale, under which rates are now established, the mere act of deciding to call a public hearing instead of going into court indicated that the commission has decided to ignore the consent decree in seeking lower rates.

Having already declared that the rate of return of the power company is excessive, the commission can not expect to glean much additional evidence at another hearing. The testimony, however, may enable the utilities body to adjust the sliding scale more equitably.

When the commission issues an order adjusting the sliding scale, it will assert its right to establish electric rates under the utilities law and without regard to the consent decree. Thus the court battle will be precipitated. The power company in all probability will immediately seek an injunction.

Once the commission persuades the court that it has a right to establish new rates, it can forthwith issue such an order. It might even issue such an order before the court issue is decided, but it is not likely.

The power company will either have to prove the validity and the binding quality of the consent decree or else convince the court that the proposed sliding scale would result in confiscation of its property.

Barney's Funeral To Be Held Today

Fredericksburg Physician and Health Officer Died in Capital.

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., May 1.—Dr. J. Nicholas Barney, public health officer of Fredericksburg and for many years a leading physician and college professor, who died Wednesday at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, will be buried tomorrow. Funeral services will be conducted from the Presbyterian Church here at 3 p. m. In ill health for more than a year, he had been a patient in the Government hospital for three weeks. He was 64 years old.

Dr. Barney was a descendant of a long line of naval officers. His father, the late Capt. Joseph N. Barney, was in both the United States and Confederate navies. His mother, Anne Seddon Barney, was the daughter of Commodore Thomas A. Dorin. Capt. Joshua Barney, his grandfather, was one of the early American naval heroes. Dr. Barney was a lieutenant in the United States Army in the Spanish-American War and rose to the rank of major in the Medical Corps during the World War.

Applications Are Five Times Total Offering

(Associated Press.)

A $60,000,000 issue of 90-day Treasury bills offered last Tuesday yesterday was heavily oversubscribed. Acting Secretary Mills announced that applications were received for $305,855,000 of bills and $60,100,000 were accepted.

The average price was about 99.676. The average rate on a bank discount basis was about 1.29 per cent.

The money will be used to meet Government expenses.

Widow's Damage Claim Denied.

The District Commissioners yesterday denied the claim of Mrs. Annie Baxter for damages for the death of her husband, Lloyd Baxter, who was killed in an affray with another inmate of the District Workhouse at Occoquan, Va., upon recommendation of Corporation Counsel William W. Bride.

MRS. HOOVER HEADS HEALTH OBSERVANCE

Delegation Presents First Lady With Flowers at White House.

With commemorative exercises at the White House, "open house" at a number of Governmental agencies, and city-wide physical examination of children, Washington yesterday celebrated May 1 as Child Health Day.

At the White House, Mrs. Hoover was presented a basket of flowers by a group of small children in commemoration of the day officially dedicated by Congress to the health of the Nation's youth.

Four children, accomuanied by Mrs. Ernest R. Grant for many years a leader in the Child Health Day movement, made the presentation. They were David Carl Whitover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Whitover; Katherine Dorsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Esther Dorsey; Joseph Murphy, jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Murphy, and Robert Kaemmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. A. Kaemmer.

Baskets Given Children.

The boys and girls each received a basket of fruit and tulips from Mrs. Hoover, who escorted them through the living rooms of the Executive Mansion.

All day long the motor corps of the District of Columbia Red Cross Chapter was busy transporting children to and from the offices of about 100 dentists, affiliated with the District of Columbia Dental Society, who offered their services free.

Meanwhile, hearing tests were given fourth, fifth and sixth grade children in the practice school of the Wilson Teachers College by Miss Ada M. Hill, director of the local organization for the hard of hearing.

Open House Held.

"Open house" was held by the office of education, Interior Department, which distributed information on child health; the Bureau of Home Economics, Agriculture Department, which distributed Government literature; the Public Health Service and the Children's Bureau; the Washington Dairy Council, which distributed weight cards and guides for balanced meals, and the Washington Child Research Center. At the Bureau of Home Economics a meal was cooked to illustrate how a dinner might be adapted to the needs of a child. Proper clothes for children were exhibited.

Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, chairman of the White House Conference on Child Health Protection, charged parents with responsibility for the future of their offspring.

"Children are, we find, what their parents are, their churches and their schools," he said.

Features in Tomorrow's Post

Feteing royalty is no new experience for Washington, even though the city never before has played host to an Oriental monarch and his bride. The visit of the King and Queen of Siam has inspired a Post staff writer to recall notable visits of royalty here in recent years, an interesting account of which will appear in tomorrow's Post.

Into the wilds of Alaska on his fourth expedition soon goes Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, internationally famous anthropologist of the U. S. National Museum, whose noted achievements through the years are sketched in an article in The Post's tabloid section tomorrow.

One of the greatest intellectuals of his age and probably the greatest of Indians, Sequoyah is the theme for an absorbing story entitled "The Alphabet Maker of the Cherokees" in tomorrow's Post. The son of a German trader and a Cherokee woman, he reduced the language of his people to writing by means of an alphabet of 77 characters.

"If You're Goin' Fishin', Come On" is another article in the tabloid section of particular appeal to anglers, who are given an assortment of tips on the piscatorial pastime.

In a grave in a New York City cemetery lies a book buried with all the ceremony of a notable and marked by a tombstone. This provides another picturesque yarn.

One of the best sixteen stories published last year, a tale of race horses by Peter B. Kyne, and the many regular features of The Post, combined with complete news coverage, make tomorrow's issue another mine of information and enjoyment for every member of the family.

ADVERTISING PARLEY ENDS WITH ELECTION

Fair Exhibit Is Indorsed; Screen Publicity Held Experimental.

Election of a slate of subordinate officials, and two closed sessions, in which only a single talk, in the form of a committee report on screen advertising, was made public, brought to a close the two-day annual convention of the American Association of Advertising Agencies yesterday afternoon at the Mayflower Hotel.

M. L. Wilson, partner of the Blackman Co., of New York, was elected vice president; H. H. Kynett, partner of Aitkin-Kynett Co., of Philadelphia, was elected secretary, and E. De Witt Hill, of McCann-Erickson, Inc., of New York, was reelected treasurer.

Two members-at-large to the executive board were elected, including W. C. D'Arcy, of the D'Arcy Advertising Co., of St. Louis, a former vice president of the association, and Stewart Mims, vice president of J. Walter Thompson Co., New York.

President's Term Unexpired.

The three-year term of John Benson, of New York, as president does not expire until 1933, and the two-year term of C. D. Newell, of the Newell-Emmett Co., of New York, as chairman of the association's board, does not end until next year.

Regional council representatives elected were A. W. Hobler, vice president of Erwin, Wasey & Co., of New York, in the New York Council; Howard Bugbee, of Walter B. Snow and Staff, of Boston, New England Council; Charles H. Eyles, of the Richard A. Foley Advertising Agency, Inc., Philadelphia Council; L. R. Northrup, of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn Corporation, Chicago, Western Council, and W. R. Massengale, of Harvey-Massengale Co., of Atlanta, Southern Council.

Indorsement was given to the proposal for an exhibit at the world's fair in Chicago to depict the role played by advertising in the progress of industry and human welfare. The convention authorized appointment of a representative to serve on a joint committee of various advertising interests to cooperate on the proposed exhibit.

Report Made on Screen's Use.

R. L. Strobridge, secretary of the Newell-Emmett Co., of New York, submitted the committee report on screen advertising in which he declared that the use of motion pictures as advertising media, although growing, is yet in the pioneering stage.

"It is easy to get pictures made, but adequate distribution is neither simple nor certain," he said.

Other speakers at the morning session, devoted almost entirely to the discussion of internal agency problems, were Mr. Hill, the association's treasurer; Henry T. Ewald, of New York, chairman of the committee on outdoor advertising; President Benson, and F. R. Gamble, executive secretary of the association.

A conference on business papers was held at a noon luncheon, followed by an exhibition of advertising moving pictures.

Ownerless Tract Is Deeded to U. S.

20-Foot Square Near Great Falls Is Presented by Maryland.

Deed to a small strip of land which legally has had no owner since the founding of Maryland, and which has been presented to the Federal Government by Gov. Ritchie of Maryland, was placed on file yesterday in the circuit court at Rockville.

The tract of approximately 20 square feet, located near Great Falls between the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal and the Potomac River, was discovered several years ago by Government engineers surveying adjoining land in connection with the building of an aqueduct to Dalecarlia Reservoir in Washington.

A title search made in an effort to find an owner who could be made defendant in condemnation proceedings revealed that the land never had been assigned. A bill assigning it to the State was passed two years ago by the Legislature and a deed for the property has been tendered to United States Attorney Simon E. Sobeloff.

Money received from the sale constitutes the principal means of support for the American Legion rehabilitation program.

Disabled veterans, who make the paper poppies are paid 1¼ cents apiece. Most communities in the State, Mrs. McKinney said, are planning to observe poppy day during the week of May 30.

METHODISTS PLAN FOR WORLD PARLEY

2,000 Delegates in Protestant Branch Meeting Here May 12 to 15.

May is the big month for the great church conferences and conventions. One of the most important of them will be held in D. A. R. Memorial Continental Hall May 12-15, when the Methodist Protestants will gather from all quarters of the globe, in a delegated body, to discuss all the problems confronting the church.

Dr. Hirl A. Kester, pastor of the Congress Street Methodist Protestant Church, states that there will be from 1,500 to 2,000 delegates attending this convention. Of course, there will be as many more visitors from a distance and the members of the local congregations in this area will also attend some of the meetings. Dr. Broomfield, of Pittsburgh, president of the General Conference, will preside.

This is not a legislative body, but it may take up problems that will be discussed, acted upon and then sent on to the General Conference, which meets a year hence, for final settlement. Among these is the union of the Methodist Protestants with the Methodist Episcopal Church, which was initiated in 1908 by the latter and is still on the calendar as unfinished business. Union with the Methodist Episcopal Church South is also in the air and has been considered for some years, with no results so far.

Work on Joint Hymnal.

As a step in the direction of ultimate unification these three great bodies of Methodism are now at work on a common or joint hymnal which, when completed, will supplant hymnals now in use. For many years the two Episcopal Methodist conferences have used a joint hymnal.

One of the features of the convention will be the music. Choral clubs are coming from High Point College, in North Carolina, from the college at Adrian, Mich., and from Western Maryland University, to give programs. On the closing night there will be a grand musical festival in which all of the colleges will participate.

The Methodist Protestant Society is the largest of the groups of non-Episcopal Methodisms in this country. It was organized in 1830, as a protest against the powers of the episcopacy and of the presiding eldership, but chiefly because the general conference refused to give the laity equal rights with the clergy. In later years both Episcopal Methodist bodies gave the laity equal rights and then the women, but they still cling to their bishops, though curtailing some of their original autocratic powers, and the presiding elder is not so powerful as he used to be.

Hope for Common Basis.

In order to overcome the difficulty of the episcopal form of government in the event of a union of Methodists, it is proposed that the Methodist Protestants continue their present system, with the ultimate hope of putting all of the Methodist bodies on a common basis of government and polity.

Something of this sort, it would seem, would have to follow the proposed union of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., with the Methodist Episcopal Church, which will come up for action, with a favorable report, at the meeting of the General Assembly in May in Pittsburgh. There is no bishop in the Presbyterian Church; there never was; but no man can say there never will be. The idea does not fit in with the Presbyterial form of government and worship, however.

Two Encyclicals Hold Attention

Papal Views on Labor and Christian Marriage Venerated.

On May 16 next thousands of pilgrims will assemble in Rome to celebrate 40 years of a great event in the Pontificate of Pope Leo XIII—the issue of his famous encyclical on labor. After 40 years the principles enunciated in this papal letter are at length recognized as providing the solution for most if not all of our present economic difficulties.

Coincident with this celebration will be the issue in this country, in a noble and enduring form, of another encyclical which has already been hailed by well-thinking people of every faith as offering a solution of many of our present moral and social evils—the encyclical on Christian marriage.

Besides being a testimony of the enormous prestige of the Holy See, it is a treasury of doctrine and moral teaching, a marvel of dignity in expression and of completeness in explanation. It will be forever regarded as a treatise on the institution which is the very foundation of human life. It is the first time in history an encyclical has been published in de luxe edition.

Calvary Methodist Plans Song Festival

There will be a festival of old time gospel songs at the Calvary Methodist Church, on Columbia road, tomorrow evening. Here are some of the songs on the list: "On Jordan's Stormy Banks I Stand," "Bringing in the Sheaves," "He's the Lily of the Valley," "Throw Out the Life Line," "Pull for the Shore, Sailor." Instead of having the entire song service at one time at the beginning of the hour the songs will be interspersed throughout the hour. The hour will end with the singing of "Shall We Meet" and "Oh, Think of Our Home Over There."

The Rev. Mark Depp will preach on "The Tyranny of Trifles." He will be assisted in the pulpit by Dr. Dudley, who will lead him in the hymn singing; Ernest Bailey, who will offer the evening prayer, and Dr. Ralph Teunis, who will read the scripture lesson. Special musical numbers will be rendered by Mrs. Clara Wolfe, pianist, and Miss Anna Sloan, cellist.

Chevy Chase Baptists Will Discuss Problems

A forum for the consideration of important questions confronting the church will be held at the Chevy Chase Baptist Church on Thursday evenings during May.

On Thursday, May 7, the subject will be "Home Problems and Their Solution." On May 14 "Atheism in Russia" will be considered. On May 21 the subject for discussion will be "The Inspiration of the Bible." The final topic on May 28 will be "The Christian Test of Amusements."

METHODIST PROTESTANT CONVENTION COMMITTEE

Spring Meeting to Be Held at Mrs. Mackay-Smith's House Friday.

Invitations have been issued for the spring meeting of the Washington Cathedral committee of the National Cathedral Association next Friday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Alexander Mackay-Smith, 1325 Sixteenth street. Bishop James E. Freeman will preside and make an introductory address.

Brief reports will also be made on the Washington Cathedral committee's participation in the plan to afford financial assistance for the Russian Theological Academy in Paris and the effort to afford additional employment at Mount St. Alban as a contribution to the work of the President's employment emergency committee, of which Col. Arthur Woods has been chairman.

The subjects are as follows: Tomorrow, "The Eager Optimist." May 10, "God—Refuge or Home?" May 17, "The Great Deliverance:" May 24, "The Unimprisoned Word." May 31, "Hearts Aglow."

Sentence Sermons

By the REV. MEADE BALTON MacBRYDE

(Rector of Grace Episcopal Church).

Exercise

IF there is one thing that is recognized as an essential element in all development it is the necessity of exercise. It is generally looked upon as a most necessary quality in the expression of all physical and mental growth.

The modern parents insist upon the growing child having its hours of out-of-doors play. The school boy and girl is encouraged in all the participation of outdoor sports. The young man at college enters into the athletic contests as a matter of course. He is laying the foundation for a well-developed, well-rounded physical being. Men and women of all classes and conditions have awakened to the necessity of physical exercise if there is to be physical development and growth.

There has been a like awakening when it comes to mental development and growth, in the general and wide-spread interest in education, and the establishment and maintenance of well-equipped schools and colleges. A college education is now considered almost a necessity for a well-rounded, well-fitted, well-equipped man.

A well-cared-for body and a well-developed mind are both necessary ingredients in our composition.

But shall we stop there? Man (we are told) is composed of body, mind and spirit!

Sad as it seems—men and women have not awakened generally to the necessity of spiritual exercise if there is to be spiritual development. They take too much for granted. They fancy their clean living, occasional praying, irregular church-going will give them the spiritual training that they need. Suddenly there comes a test case; they make the effort but fail. Christ says to them (as He said to the Apostles), "This kind of work

Be it casting out evil spirits
Be it meeting temptation
Be it influencing others for good

can only be done by spiritual exercise."

So St. Paul's injunction to Timothy is needed: "Exercise thyself unto godliness."

CATHOLICS TO HEAR PITTSBURGH PASTOR

Father Cox to Take Part in Lourdes Ceremony to Be Broadcast.

The Rev. James R. Cox, pastor of the old St. Patrick's Church in Pittsburgh, and who is responsible for the most famous reproduction of the French Lourdes Shrine in America, will deliver the discourse on the Washington Catholic Radio Hour tomorrow. The Washington Catholic Radio Hour is broadcast every Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the Church of the Immaculate Conception, of which the Rev. Francis J. Hurney is pastor, through Station WOL.

Father Cox, at his personally conducted relief station in Pittsburgh, has from November to March, fed 228,524 people, supplied 15,712 others with baskets of food, clothed 3,363 families and supplied shoes to 1,311. He is one of the most prominent figures in charity and relief work in that city. Recognition was recently accorded him in a very definite way when Gov. Pinchot appointed him to the committee to investigate the public utilities of the State of Pennsylvania.

Conducts Daily Broadcasts.

While Father Cox has been responsible for the city-wide devotion to the Lady of Lourdes in Pittsburgh, he has also been active in other lines. He broadcasts daily at noon from Pittsburgh.

Father Cox is making a special journey to Washington to deliver his discourse at the first Sunday of the month service, which includes the blessing of the sick, and the solemn Lourdes procession, both of which are followed as at the original shrine in Lourdes.

The blessing of the sick will take place at the Grotto of Lourdes which was built recently in the church, and Father Hurney will preside.

The service will open with the soloist (Miss Florence Yocum), singing the beautiful Lourdes hymn. She will be assisted by the Immaculate Conception Choir, under the direction of Prof. Harry Wheaton Howard.

The entire service will be broadcast direct from the church through Station WOL.

Revivals Growing Of Prize Beauty

Out-of-Town Delegations to Hear Edith Mae Pennington.

The first week in the Masonic Temple Auditorium, Thirteenth street and New York avenue northwest, of the city-wide revival, being conducted by Edith Mae Pennington, the beauty prize-winner and motion picture actress, who later became an evangelist, has sent the attendance to new records. Visitors have arrived from Chicago, New York City, Harrisburg, Waynesboro, Annapolis and other points to hear the evangelist.

Several delegations are expected to be present next week, among them a party of 100 from Baltimore on Tuesday night. New Jersey is arranging a delegation and others are being planned from Pennsylvania. The service will be broadcasted Wednesday night, 7:45 to 9 p. m., over WJSV, and every Wednesday night thereafter during the campaign. Divine healing service will be Thursday night, 7:45. Owing to a previous engagement, Friday night this week will be omitted at the auditorium.

There will be services at Masonic Auditorium tomorrow night at 7:30 and every night, except Friday and Saturday at 7:45. The Sunday morning service will be at the Full Gospel Tabernacle, North Capitol and K streets, at 11 o'clock, where Mrs. Pennington will speak, and she will address a special meeting for young peoples' societies of the city at the Tabernacle on Friday night.

Lecture Will Describe Sacred Healing Shrine

The work, methods and results of the healing shrine at St. Anne de Beaupre, near Quebec, Canada, will be described to the members and friends of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church next Thursday evening by Alton B. Carty, a member of the church.

Mr. Carty visited the shrine recently and spent several days observing the activities carried on there. Following Mr. Carty's address there will be a questionnaire period.

Ludlow to Talk To Bible Class

Hoosier Representative to Appear in New Role Tomorrow.

Louis Ludlow, former president of the National Press Club, long-time member of the Press Gallery and now serving his second term in Congress as a Democrat from Indianapolis, will appear in a new role tomorrow, when he will speak before the Harrison Bible Class of the Congress Street Methodist Protestant Church.

In one of his inimitable books, "From Cornfield to Press Gallery," Mr. Ludlow tells the story of how he came by an education, a serious problem in his childhood just after the Secession War. The Bible was his chief textbook and a hickory switch his main inspiration to learn. From the former he learned the ways of man, which have lifted him to his present high position, and from the latter he learned the way to Heaven, which is a straight and narrow path—"narrer" they called it in Hoosierdom.

To one who is familiar with the history of Indiana, this is no new story. All of her famous men were nourished on the Bible, and some of her most noted orators—Daniel W. Vorhees and Albert J. Beveridge, for instance—could reproduce from memory most of it, as the Waldensians can do all of it, if the text were destroyed. They read from the original Greek and Hebrew, but Mr. Ludlow, having learned his letters from the original King James, still clings tenaciously to that ancient language.

Dr. Shelton Returns From Kentucky Visit

Dr. W. A. Shelton, pastor of Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, has returned from Kentucky, where he has been giving a course of lectures on the Bible, and will occupy his pulpit at both services tomorrow.

In the evening the young people of the church will be in charge of the service, and the pastor will have a special message for the occasion.
